

School Board Election . . . High School Still Issue

KINGSTON
All five candidates running in Wednesday's special election for the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board of Education say they would oppose a new High School if elected but the high school still seems to be the main issue.
Back in early May upwards of 7,000 voters turned out in response to Ronald Meyer's statement at the first candidate's night that "Ladies and gentlemen, there is only one issue in this campaign. It is whether we will build a new high school in Lake Katrine."
Meyer, and three other persons who formed what became known as the "Kingston Quartet", went on to election but one of them, John Devine, resigned after only 22 days in office. Meyer, Richard Skala and Josephine McKean were joined by Fred Hofbauer and now constitute the "anti-high school" faction on the board.
Wednesday's election is to fill Devine's unexpired five-year term.
Other issues have arisen in this campaign, most notably alternative solutions to alleviate overcrowding at Kingston High School in the face of the current political reality against a new high school.
Another aspect of this campaign has been school board members campaigning for and endorsing candidates, something heretofore virtually unheard of.
Hofbauer and Skala, for instance, have endorsed Michael Bohan, at 28, the youngest of the candidates. Bohan's age hasn't been a factor; Board President Ward D. Todd was elected three years ago at the age of 24.
Bohan, a Vietnam War veteran works for AT&T and is active in American Legion circles where he is vice commander of Post 1298 in Esopus. He lives at 319 Fourth Avenue in Kingston.

Related stories, photo on page 2.
James Attenweiler has been active with the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce, United Way and other community endeavors and like Wayne Schubert, has been a regular attendee of school board meetings for the past five years. Attenweiler, a Rotron employee, has been a certified public accountant for the past 25 years. He lives in Zena.

Schubert and Bohan belong to the same American Legion Post, where Schubert is an immediate past commander, but other than agreeing that a new high school should not be built, they share little in common.
Schubert wants the Miller Junior High School converted into a high school. He favors deconsolidation of the 11,000 pupil school district. Schubert lives on Pine Street and works for the New York State Thruway Authority.
Seymour Kassler is active with the St. Joseph's Parents Association and has served in numerous capacities in that church including Boy Scouts. The father of six, he is assistant postmaster in Hyde Park. Kassler lives at 6 St. James Street. Joseph Feraca, a detective-sergeant with the Kingston Police Department, is a former board member and president who was swept out of office in May on the anti-high school tide.

Stating that he now opposes the high school, Feraca has also changed his position on the public's right to vote on the budget. He now favors it.
A resident of Alcazar Avenue in Kingston, Feraca cites his experience and his record in office as his main qualifications. The school district will publish a list of the polling places in Tuesday's Freeman.

Protests Against Execution of Guerrillas

Strikes, Demonstrations Paralyze Spain

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (UPI) — Strikes in protest against Saturday's execution of five urban guerrillas paralyzed parts of the Basque country today and brought an extraordinary session of the government in Madrid to consider the violent Spanish and foreign reaction to the deaths.

Heavily armed police used clubs to quell street demonstrations in some of the Basque towns and cities. There also was a guerrilla-style $535,000 robbery in Barcelona and a vast forest fire that devastated great areas of the Basque region.

The two-day general strike was called by underground labor organizations for the four Basque provinces where extremists seek independence from Spain. It paralyzed several towns in Guipuzcoa province and idled thousands of workers in the industrial center of Bilbao.

A wave of anti-Spanish demonstrations swept Europe and Latin America Sunday and again today and Mexico called for the expulsion of Spain from the United Nations. A dozen nations recalled their ambassadors from Madrid. There were street demonstrations in Madrid Sunday by 1,500 youths shouting "Freedom!" and in Lisbon, Portuguese burned the Spanish Embassy.

The executions stirred protests in Spain and abroad because of lingering hostility to the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, widespread opposition to the death penalty and because of the way the executed were tried.

They were convicted by military tribunals which, except in one case, rejected all defense witnesses and evidence. One trial that produced five death sentences — three of them later commuted — lasted three hours after civilian defense lawyers had been expelled for interrupting proceedings with protests.

The government said it estimated that 15 percent of the total work force of Guipuzcoa province heeded the strike call and said no incidents had been reported.

But about 90 percent of the shops in San Sebastian were shuttered, and plants, offices and many schools were closed in surrounding towns such as Zarauz and Azpeita.

The Basque country has traditionally been a center of antigovernment activity by Basques demanding an independent Basque nation. Two of the five guerrillas executed for murdering policemen were Basque militants.

In Barcelona, three men and two women armed with tommyguns carried out a guerrilla-type attack on the Francisco Franco Social Security Hospital, stealing the $535,000 monthly payroll and critically wounding two policemen.

The police announcement on the attack did not mention any political connections. Guerrilla groups have been financing part of their activities by holding up banks and offices.

Industry sources reported that most of the big plants in the industrial center of Bilbao were affected by the strikes. A spokesman for the government-controlled trade union organization estimated 6,000 out of 21,800 workers of 16 plants in the Bilbao region had walked off their jobs.

Unlike San Sebastian, shops were open in Bilbao. The morning plane from Madrid to San Sebastian was diverted to Bilbao because of "weather conditions," travelers reported.

Europa Press also reported a huge forest fire near the Basque town of Artakarra in an area owned by the Marquess of Socorro. Firemen from Bilbao battled the flames all night but did not put them out.

In Barcelona six gunmen today attacked the Francisco Franco social security hospital, stole $535,000 and injured two policemen shooting their way out.

There was no indication whether the attack had any political significance. Basque and Marxist guerrilla groups have financed some of their activities by holding up banks or kidnaping wealthy individuals.

In the town of Azpeita where plants, businesses and all schools were closed, club-swinging police scattered 1,500 demonstrators marching through the central Ruiz Santinas de Loyola street.

The two-day strike was called for the four Basque provinces by underground labor organizations. It appeared to be 90 percent effective in Guipuzcoa province and parts of neighboring Vizcaya province.

In San Sebastian, 90 percent of the merchants shuttered their shops even though authorities threatened them with a $875 fine if they joined the strike.

Gunmen Holding Seven Italian Hostages

LONDON (UPI) — Three gunmen have demanded a plane and free passage out of Britain as the price for saving the lives of seven Italian hostages, Italian Consul General Mario Manca said today.

"I was told by the hostages that they have made this demand," Manca told reporters after visiting the restaurant basement and talking to the hostages through the locked door of the store room where they are being held.

"No one is excited. Everyone is very quiet," Manca said.

Italian ambassador Roberto Ducci also visited the basement and talked to the hostages through the locked door.

The gunmen, said to be two West Indians and a Nigerian, have held the hostages in the tiny store room for more than 36 hours.

Police said they resumed negotiations with them through the locked door in the afternoon after several hours of deadlock during which there was no communication.

Police Commander Christopher Payne, who headed negotiations during a plane hijacking at London's Heathrow airport last January, arrived on the scene in the morning.

His appearance sparked press reports that the gunmen had demanded a getaway car and a plane from Heathrow. But Payne refused to confirm this.

"I cannot confirm reports that I was brought in because of my previous experience of dealing with terrorists," he said. "This is a long operation and it's just a question of changing staff."

Police kept up their attempt to wear down the bandits, hoping exhaustion would force them to surrender without use of force. They turned off the air conditioning but passed in drinking water for the terrorists and their victims.

Police listening through a ventilation shaft said they could hear the bandits — said to be two West Indians and an African — quarrelling angrily. Police marksmen continued to watch all exits.

Italian Consul General Mario Manca talked with the Italian hostages for the first time through the locked door Monday morning.

"I found them in pretty good condition, considering their long ordeal," he said. They reported the 9 by 13 foot room was very hot.

Only one lane of traffic was allowed in front of the Spaghetti House Restaurant in fashionable Knightsbridge, where the three gunmen grabbed eight hostages early Sunday after the quick arrival of police frustrated a robbery attempt.

The gunmen released one of the hostages, Alfredo Olivelli, Monday afternoon after talks with West Indian-born Lord Pitt, former chairman of the Greater London Council.

Olivelli told police the men were armed with a shotgun and two pistols.

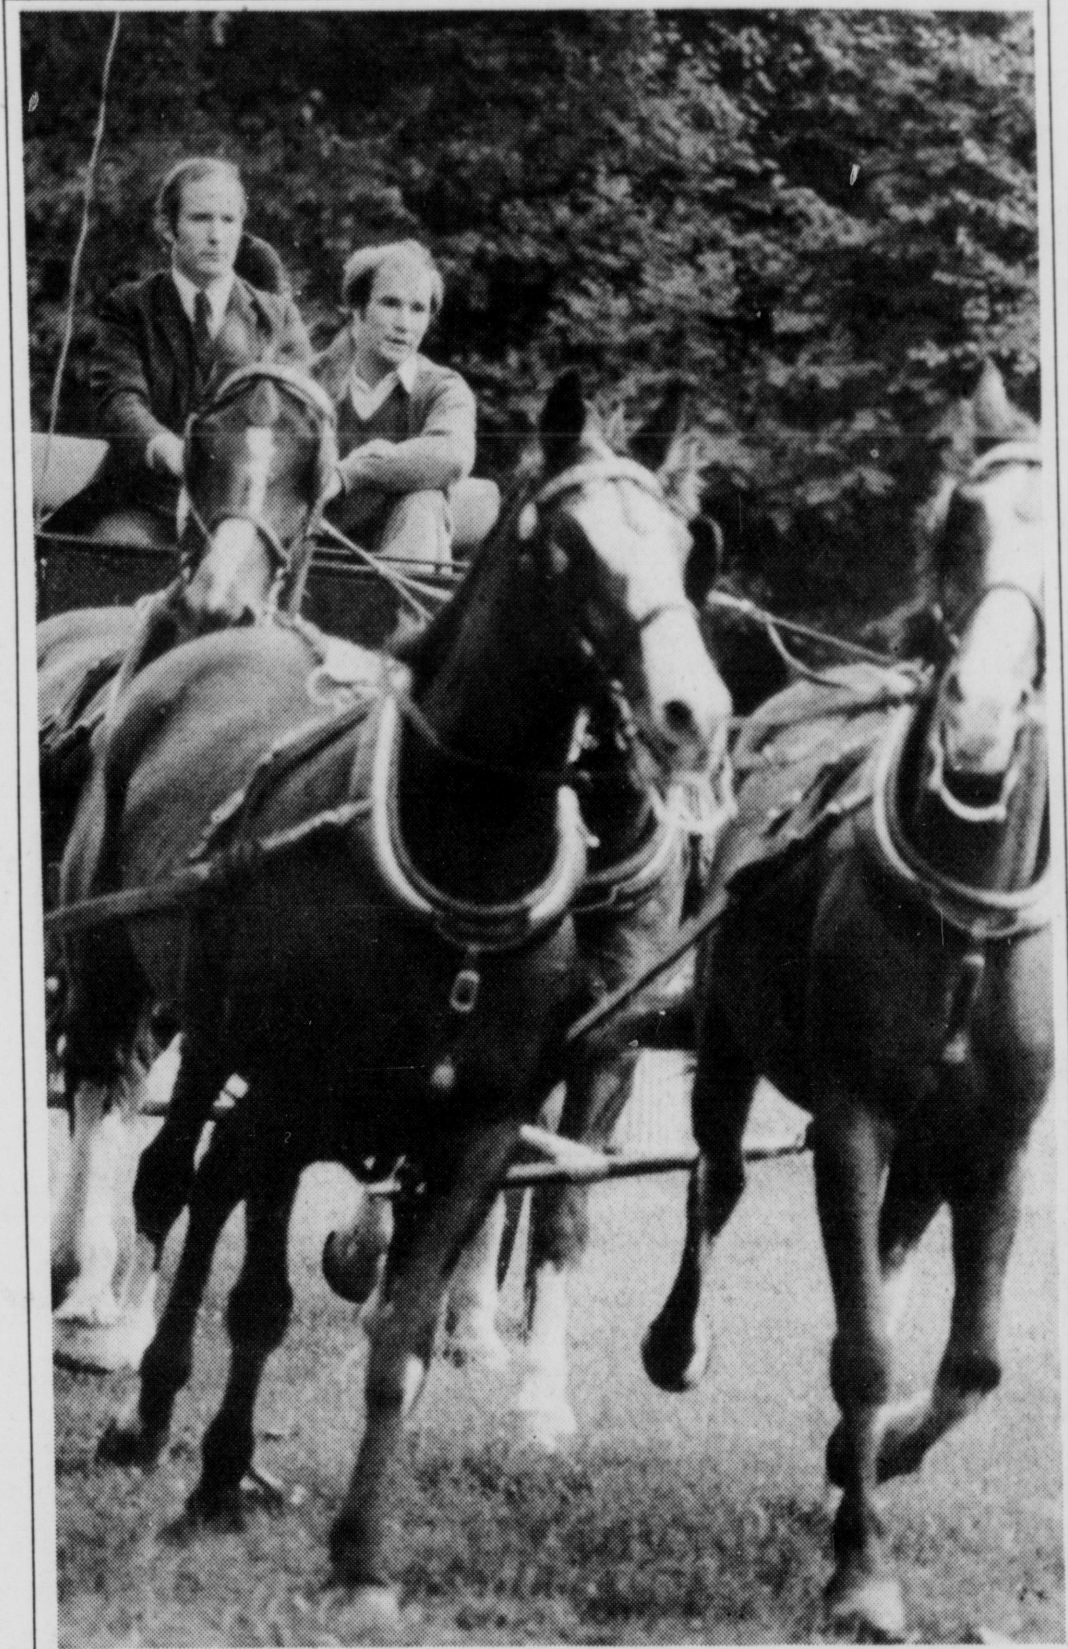

Police passed drinking water to the 10 men huddled in the basement, but switched off the air conditioning in hopes of forcing out the gunmen.

More than 250 police, equipped with gas masks, tear gas canisters and ammunition, surrounded the restaurant in one of London's fashionable shopping areas.

"We have made it quite plain to the men that there will be no bargaining of any kind, and that if they throw up their arms and come out they will not be harmed," Sir Robert Mark, the metropolitan police commissioner, said.

At one point, the gunmen claimed to represent a black liberation group and asked for the release of two prisoners who had already served their time.

"Their demands are very confused," Mark said. "It was an armed raid that went wrong."

Flying Hooves at Mohonk Finish Line

Driver guides horses and carriage to finish line in four-in-hand competition Sunday at Lake Mohonk. The event was part of the three-day first annual meeting of the American Driving Society. A total of 140 persons with 70 horses and 50 carriages took part in events hosted by the Lake Mohonk Mountain House. There were demonstrations and contests as well as drives over picturesque carriage roads and a mountain picnic. (Freeman photo by Carey)

Singer Seeks DA Probe On 'Tally Sheet Caper'

By Hugh Reynolds

KINGSTON
Conservative Party candidate for Mayor, Bernard Singer has called for a formal investigation by the district attorney of what he calls "the tally sheet caper" in the 11th Ward on primary night.

Singer, speaking at the Conservative Party dinner at the Holiday Inn last night, was referring to the single ballot cast in the Second District of the 11th Ward on Sept. 9 in the primary between Roberta Kolts and T. Robert Gallo.

"Roberta Kolts, a gentle woman, in her first election attempt, defeated an aggressive, arrogant professional politician," Singer said. "Their (Gallo's) campaign left an odor in local politics. We haven't heard the last of that primary contest. I will be asking the district attorney's office of Ulster County to make a complete investigation of the tally sheet caper."

Unofficial returns election night showed Mrs. Kolts the recipient of the one vote—cast by Terrance Taylor—and a resultant 37-36 winner but the official returns, taken from tally sheets, reversed that decision. The Conservatives took the matter to court winning a victory for Mrs. Kolts.

The judge ruled, however, that there was no fraud in the election—although he referred to the tally sheet switch as "inexplicable"—causing Gallo to decalre a "moral victory."

Singer claims that Gallo's call for a complete investigation of the incident prompted him to pursue the matter. "I had hoped 'the team' would take the initiative," Singer said, referring to Gallo and his Democratic running mate, Mayor Francis R. Koenig. "But Gallo asked for an apology instead. How silly can one get?"

Singer then called for Gallo to join him in the investigation. "Let the people know that you mean what you say. The stigma is on your team. The plague is on your house. What are you going to do about it?" Singer asked.

Taylor, who served as master of ceremonies for the crowd of about 65 persons, also attacked Gallo, saying "Where do you get off demanding apologies. It was myself and Mrs. Kolts who were almost disenfranchised in the primary . . . When men like you are less interested in votes and power and more interested in people's right, that's when truth and justice will prevail."

Singer's speech dealt with "open government." He was critical of the Koenig Administration, stating that it has resulted in "a city crisis." He then ticked off what he considered crises in city government such as garbage collection, lack of urban renewal development, morale in the police and fire departments, the old city hall.

Mrs. Kolts built her speech around a theme of "all that is needed for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing." She suggested there was evil in city government and unless people became interested and active in their government the situation would get worse.

Residents of Pennsylvania dug through flood-muddied rubble to salvage what they could Sunday.

"The people's spirit is amazing," said Police Chief John Oberdorf of the hard-hit town of Muncy, Pa. "They've been through many floods and they are already fighting to get back in business."

Their spirits got a boost as Hurricane Faye spun away from the East Coast, easing the threat of further rains.

The National Hurricane Center reported Sunday that Faye had turned toward the open North Atlantic and was "no longer a threat to land areas in North America." Weather officials also said Hurricane Gladys, in Atlantic waters to the south, was weakening.

Torrential downpours triggered by the remnants of now-dead Hurricane Eloise had sent floodwaters raging through a dozen eastern states, causing hundreds of millions of dollars in damage and claiming nine lives. Thousands of persons were forced from their homes by rampaging creeks and rivers.

President Ford declared a 30-county area of Pennsylvania a major disaster area, clearing the way for millions of dollars in aid to homeowners, farmers and communities along the Susquehanna River, gorged by Eloise' stormy backlash.

The river crested at the Conowingo Dam in Maryland Sunday, gushing billions of gallons of rain water into Chesapeake Bay. Thirty-three of the 53 flood gates were opened and the water level was just 10 feet from the top of the dam wall at one point. The crest marked the end of the worst flooding to hit the Mid-Atlantic states since Hurricane Agnes, which killed 50 persons in 1972.

Pennsylvania was hardest hit. A civil defense spokesman estimated damages at more than $150 million. The flood knocked out 13 water supply plants and 16 sewage treatment plants, forcing residents of small towns to boil their drinking water.

Some 3,300 National Guardsmen who assisted Saturday in evacuating about 26,000 persons from their homes turned their efforts towards the cleanup on Sunday.

Radio, TV Stations Seized

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Combat-equipped troops occupied Portugal's radio and television stations today in a government attempt to wrench them from Communist control.

The move provoked immediate and angry response from the far left but no violence was reported during the first hours of the occupation.

Prime Minister Adm. Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo gave the order to send in the troops after charging the leftists at the stations with manipulating the news to provoke the type of violence that led to the plundering of three Spanish government buildings in Lisbon and Porto over the weekend.

"The occupation was effected by military forces of the three branches of the armed forces and is designed to assure nonmanipulated news at the service of the country and the revolution," a statement issued by Azevedo's office said.

The troops rolled into the city at the start of the morning rush hour and sealed off the streets outside the various radio and television studios.

At Radio Club, the workers refused to accept the occupation and the troops sent to carry out the operation joined in their protest. Military security chief Gen. Otelo Uraiva de Carvalho reacted by sending other troops and evacuating the building.

The workers themselves broadcast a brief announcement about the events at 11:55 a.m. Then the station began playing "Grandola Vila Morena" — the song that acted as the codeword for the start of Portugal's revolution 17 months ago.

Feraca to 'Abide By Mandates'

KINGSTON

"I will abide by the mandates of the people in this district and will not support a new high school," stated Kingston Board of Education candidate Joseph Feraca Jr. today.

"The people of this school district have the right and the privilege to be heard and to have their obvious decision respected," he added, leaving no doubt as to his intentions in this regard.

He characterized himself as a middle man. "I do not favor either faction on the board and I'm only concerned with continuing the quality of education," he said, referring to an apparent 4-4 split between old and new board members on some issues.

Slating the goal of the board to be a "working organization," Feraca promised, "I intend to gear my energies towards bringing unity and a true sense of cooperation to the members of the board . . ."

Feraca listed as some of his qualifications his past board experience and interest in pre-kindergarten screening and elimination of most executive board sessions, as well as his continued formal education. The Kingston police officer said he has finished requirements for a master's degree and is working on certification in administration at SUNY at New Paltz.

Attenweiler Seeks Post

KINGSTON

James Attenweiler, seeking a seat on the Kingston Board of Education in Wednesday's balloting, summed up his attitude on penny wise, pound foolish spending today with this comment: "I long ago learned that economy at the expense of quality is the most tragic waste of all."

He pointed to an alleged recent action by the "quartet" at a school board meeting wherein the Hofbauer-led group was allegedly "proposing to leave three classrooms full of students without teachers by refusing to hire replacements for teachers who had resigned or gone on leave over the summer . . . I trust my finger pointing helped them to see the error they were making."

Said Attenweiler, "It is this type of irresponsible attempt at economy that helped me to decide to run for the school board. I, too, stand for economies in our school budget, but not at the expense of the quality of the students' education. My entire adult life has been spent cutting the fat from multimillion dollar industrial budgets."

In defining who he was, Attenweiler also said what he was not.

"I am not the candidate interviewed in school board member Fred Hofbauer's barn to determine if he was acceptable and then promised the WHITA endorsement even before the WHITA candidate's night was held . . . I am not the candidate who had his father, Joseph Feraca Sr., on the panel questioning school board candidates for the CSEA endorsement," he declared.

CWA Local 1151 Endorses Candidate

KINGSTON

Communications Workers of America Local 1151 has endorsed Michael Bohan for election to the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board of Election on Oct. 1.

Bohan, a member of that local, is employed at the Halihan Hill office of the Mid-Hudson complex of AT&T. A union official referred to Bohan as a "model citizen," noting his service in Vietnam and his recent commission as a second lieutenant in the National Guard. Bohan is vice commander of American Legion Post 1298 in Esopus.

He and his wife Patty and their daughter Karen live at 319 Fourth Avenue, Kingston.

Practice Barred

SAUGERTIES

The practice of refusing credit to borrowers who have defaulted on loans for the unearned portion of interest which was deducted in advance has been barred under legislation carried by Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey (D-101st).

"Under a law which took effect in the beginning of this month banks will not be able to sue delinquent customer for the unearned interest on loans," he said.

"A examination of banking practices by the attorney general's office found that some banks were not only suing delinquent customers for unearned interest but including lawyers fees as a percentage of the loan. This too has been arred.

"What will happen now is that if a bank accelerates the maturity of a loan because of a default by the borrower, and obtains a court judgement, the borrower is entitled to the same rebate of unearned interest as if it has been voluntarily paid off," Assemblyman Hinchey said.

Hoffa Search Off . . for Now

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — The search of a 29-acre site where James R. Hoffa's body may be buried has been called off until authorities get fresh information from a tipster who claims he witnessed the Teamster leader's burial.

An investigator for a Senate subcommittee said Sunday that the tipster was being held by underworld gangsters anxious to prove they were not involved in Hoffa's death.

The Senate investigator, reporting on a bizarre, indirect collaboration with gangland families, said he was told the unidentified tipster would be held captive until he provides specific clues to solve the Hoffa mystery, which began with the disappearance of the union boss on July 30.

Police dug with a power shovel for three hours Sunday before calling off the search, which began Saturday in a 29-acre rural area of woods and swamp in Waterford Township, about 35 miles northwest of Detroit. Squads using a helicopter and a specially trained dog were unable to find any evidence of a grave, which the tipster reportedly said was dug the day before Hoffa's disappearance.

William B. Gallinano, an investigator for a subcommittee chaired by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said underworld contacts told him and fellow investigator F. Keith Adkinson the informant had been tracked down and was being held by a gangland chief, according to the Detroit Free Press. Information from the man reportedly was being relayed by courier to a go-between who contacted Gallinano about four weeks ago.

In an interview Sunday, Gallinano and Adkinson said they had mistakenly thought the tipster had been brought back to the grave site by underworld figures, and that he had precise directions to the grave. But the two men said they learned later the man had relied on his memory when he drew a general map of the supposed burial site.

Vincent Piersante, director of Kelley's organized crime task force, said Sunday he wished the investigators "would get the informant here and put a cross on the spot."

"We don't know about the mental condition of this person who made the estimates (of direction to a burial site). Look, if you have Hoffa's body in the back of your car, every 10 seconds seems like an hour and a half, every hundred yards seems like three miles," Piersante said.

Gallinano said his sources insisted the underworld had nothing to do with Hoffa's disappearance and that it sprang from rivalry between Hoffa and his hand-picked successor for the presidency of the Teamsters International Union, Frank Fitzsimmons.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst's defense team, dropping hints of its legal battle plan, worked today on strategies for getting the newspaper heiress out of jail — either by bail or for psychiatric care.

"Her health is deteriorating here and she is getting melancholy," Terence Hallinan, one of her attorneys, told reporters Sunday night after visiting Miss Hearst in the San Mateo County Jail.

He said a motion would be filed in federal court Tuesday for Miss Hearst's transfer "to a more appropriate setting in light of her medical problems," namely, the psychiatric ward of San Francisco's St. Mary's Hospital.

The facility, Hallinan said, could provide better physical and mental care for Miss Hearst, whom he said did not appear "as spaced out as when she was arrested."

In Hartford, Conn., the newest addition to the defense squad, Boston attorney F. Lee Bailey, said Sunday that California was "not a very good state" for an insanity or diminished capability plea.

He said he would advise her not to plead insanity. Bailey also said he would not seek a change of venue for the trial.

"I think it's a very challenging case—one probably without anything that could be described as a precedent. And it involves something in which I've been interested in for a long time and that is the whole kidnappingbrainwashing syndrome—what you can make a human being do."

In an affidavit last week, Miss Hearst claimed she was subjected to inhumane treatment by the Symbionese Liberation Army after they kidnapped her.

Sara Moore To Undergo Tests

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Sara Jane Moore, the 45-year-old housewife who fired a gun at President Ford in San Francisco one week ago, has settled into comfortable surroundings for two months of psychiatric studies to determine her fitness for trial.

The defendant, who moved on the fringes of left-wing politics in the Bay Area and also worked at times as an FBI informant, will be isolated from other inmates during her stay at the high-rise Metropolitan Correctional Center, it was learned during the weekend.

Officials have not yet disclosed details of the psychiatric proceedings that will be used to compile a report to be presented to U.S. Magistrate Owen Woodruff in San Francisco by Nov. 18.

Prison authorities originally planned to house Miss Moore in a private room on the ninth floor of the facility, where she would be free to mingle with 47 other prisoners and share dining and entertainment facilities with them.

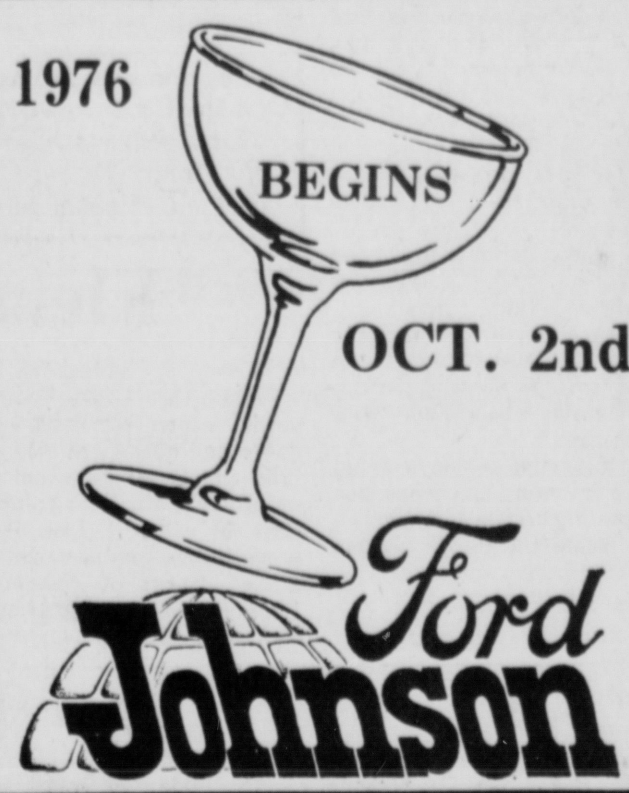

Those plans were changed late Saturday, however, when officers who transported the suspect south on a 513-mile drive down the California coast brought along a court order specifying that she be isolated.

"She was accompanied by a court order which requires stringent restrictions of all communications with her," Warden John D. Williams explained.

"Therefore, we have deviated from our original plan and have housed Miss Moore in our hospital third-floor level to accommodate requirements of this order."

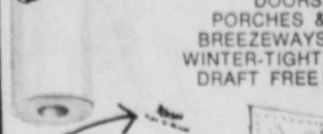

She still has a private room — and like the others it is carpeted and furnished with a desk, bed, sink and toilet — and she is still able to watch television.

Hinchey Wants Bridge Closing Law

SAUGERTIES

Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey (D-101st Dist.) said today he will offer legislation during the next state legislature session prohibiting New York City from closing any of its upstate bridges and highways without authorization from the Department of Transportation.

Noting that under present law, DOT has no control over the city's upstate activities, Hinchey said he was "shocked at the cavalier attitude the city had shown in closing the Traver Hollow bridge in the Town of Olive on June 5 without notifying the town board or the local fire and ambulance services.

"This is another example of the callous, high-handed way in which the city operates its upstate reservoir system. I have experienced severe frustration in my attempt to responsibly negotiate this matter with both the city and DOT. The many letters and phone calls stretch over a three month period.

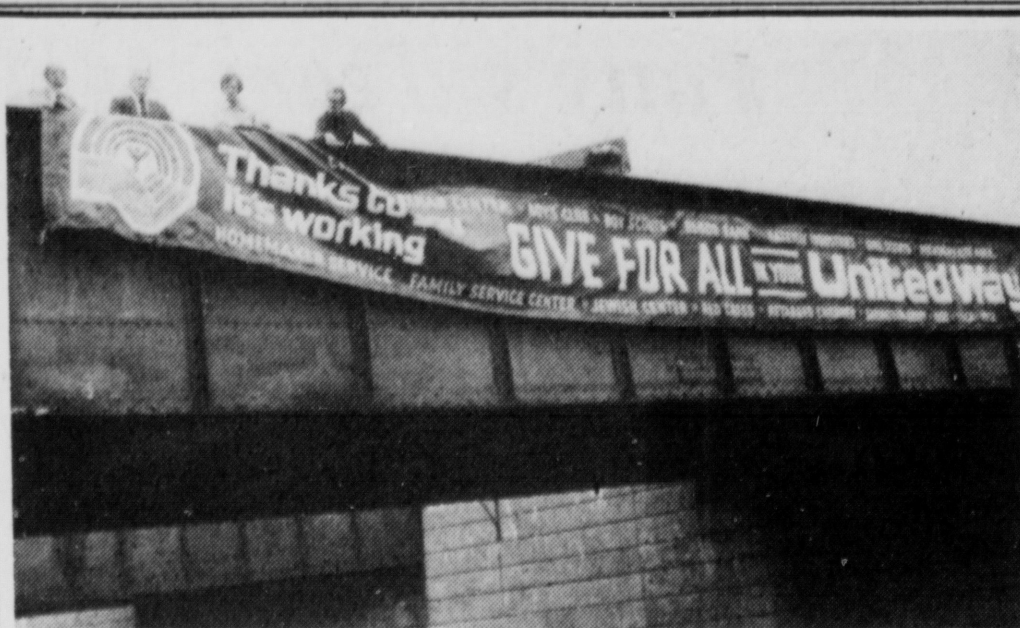

"Finally, on Sept. 6, I wrote DOT Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler, asking his direct intervention. Among other things, I suggested that if the City of New York cannot repair the bridge properly, which it apparently cannot or will not do, it seems to me that the state must fill that void. Some level of government must act responsibly."

Hinchey said he urgently requested DOT to make a prompt determination of the present condition of the bridge and to order it opened if it was safe to do so.

"If conditions warrant repairs or reconstruction before it can be crossed safely, then I ask the state to make those repairs and bill the city for the costs," Hinchey said.

In response to his letter, Hinchey said, DOT said: "The department has verified that the bridge must remain closed pending further investigation...and under the best of circumstances cannot be reopened until extensive rehabilitation work is completed following the investigation."

Hinchey said that during the next legislative session he would support a uniform, statewide bridge inventory and inspection program that would identify deteriorating bridges early enough to allow remedial work to occur before the bridge became dangerous.

United Way Sign Goes Up

Kingston city firemen assist in the installation of the United Way banner on the Broadway overpass in preparation of this year's Ulster County drive which began on Saturday. From left are David Dittman, U.W. campaign chairman; Richard Fredenberg, U.W. executive director and Kingston firemen Michael Sass and Joseph Fowley.

Klein to Propose Economic Development Director

ROSENDALE

Feeling that Ulster County needs "expert economic guidance and advice" in view of "the unduly large amount of unemployment," Legislator Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 6) is proposing the establishment of a Department of Economic Development and Control and the hiring of a director at a salary of $20,000.

Klein will ask the legislature at its Oct. 9 meeting to transfer the $20,000 from the county's contingency fund to a new budget account for economic development and control.

The Rosendale-Esopus legislator said he feels it is incumbent upon the legislature to take the initiative in an effort to revitalize the economy of the county.

He said that "in order to fulfill this obligation, the legislature must rely upon expert economic guidance and advice". Klein suggested that the new department under the direction of a qualified economist "could in addition to providing necessary input toward the solution of the present economic crisis, provide for long-range economic planning by the legislature and the development and maintenance of an arsenal of weapons against future economic dilemmas.

"The employment of such an economist could lend as-istance to the development of a well-balanced and fiscally sound economy throughout Ulster County by allowing for necessary input and advice regarding much needed industry and commercial development and expected growth patterns facing our county in the foreseeable future," he said.

Klein recommended that the director to be hired have a masters degree in economics of a BS degree with a major in economics, plus three years of experience as an economic consultant or advisor within industry or government service.

GOP Candidates Rap Dwyer Statement

KINGSTON

The six Republican candidates for the Ulster County Legislature from the City of Kingston, today took issue with Democrat Legislator John Dwyer's recent statement concerning welfare problems in Ulster County.

Agreeing that the problem is growing, the six noted that "Dwyer's earth shattering solution was rather weak in nature. His statement that, 'the only recourse the county has to raising welfare costs is to enlarge the special investigating unit of the Social Services Department' probably rates among the most naive words expressed by a candidate in this campaign."

The six—Frank Stauble, Mel Mones, Robert Matthews, John Machione, Adam Geuss and Emma Aprea, said that "everyone knows that welfare reform is one of the most monumental and perplexing issues confronting government and certainly a bandaid on a cancer can not change the course of a patient's condition."

THE NEW YORK STATE SOCIAL SERVICES PLAN UNDER TITLE XX OF THE FEDERAL SOCIAL SECURITY ACT for October 1, 1975 through September 30, 1976

In January of 1975, Congress enacted a law consolidating the social services provisions of the Social Security Act under a new section, Title XX.

Title XX requires each state to develop and publish annually a comprehensive plan for providing such services as day care, foster care, homemaker, housekeeper and family planning.

On July 1, 1975, New York published a proposed version of the Plan and urged the public to review its provisions and submit suggestions for changes prior to formulation of the Final Plan, which must go into effect October 1, 1975. The Department of Social Services held seven public hearings

GOALS: Under Title XX, states are allowed to select and define the services they will provide; the law requires, however, that services be directed toward the goals of self-support, self-sufficiency, preventing or remedying neglect of children and adults and preserving or reuniting families through protective services, preventing or reducing inappropriate institutional care by providing community-based and home-based care, and securing referral or admission to institutional care where appropriate.

FUNDING: In Federal fiscal year 1975-76, services will be financed by a Federal allocation to the State of $217.5 million, matched by $36.7 million in State funds and $35.8 million in local funds. In addition to the required matching funds, the State and its localities will continue to provide substantial funds for services without Federal assistance.

SERVICES: Services will be provided to over one million New Yorkers, many of whom are already receiving these or similar services under existing programs. Under the Plan, the State's 58 local social services districts are authorized to provide:

Adoption Services	Foster Care Services for Adults	Housing Improvement Services	Social Group Services for
Adult Welfare Education Services	Foster Care Services for Children	Information and Referral Services	Senior Citizens
Day Care Services for Children	Health Related Services	Preventive Services	Transportation Services
Educational Services	Home Management Services	Protective Services for Adults	Unmarried Parents Services
Employment Services	Homemaker Services	Protective Services for Children
Family Planning Services	Housekeeper/Chore Services	Social Adjustment Services

WHO IS ELIGIBLE: Among the New Yorkers who can qualify for services under Title XX are: Aged, blind and disabled persons who are receiving Supplemental Security Income. • All recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children. • Persons whose gross incomes fall below limits established by the Plan. Limits are set in terms of percentages of the State's median gross income — $14,264 for a family of four — and vary according to family size. For example, for a family of four, the limit for most of the services listed above is 62% of the median gross income, or $8,844. For smaller families, income limits are set at lower levels and for larger families, they are higher.

The exceptions are: • For adoption and foster care, the limit is 80% or $11,411 for a family of four. • For day care services for children, the limit is also 80% for all family sizes except two-person families, for whom it is 90%, or $8,730. • For social group services for senior citizens, the eligibility limit is 115% of median gross income — the maximum allowable under law — which equals $8,530 for individuals and $11,155 for couples. • Information and referral services are provided without regard to income. • Protective services for adults and children are provided without regard to income.

CHANGES IN THE PLAN: The Final Plan differs from the version proposed in July in several important respects.

• Eligibility for social group services for senior citizens has been increased from 80% to 115% of median gross income to insure that as many as possible of those now receiving services will continue to be eligible. NOTE TO SENIOR CITIZENS: The Title XX requirement of a means test for social group services for senior citizens has been postponed by HEW until April 1, 1976, pending further consideration of this issue at the Federal level. Therefore, senior citizens will not have to undergo individual eligibility determination when Title XX goes into effect October 1, 1975.

• Eligibility for day care services for children has been set at 90% of median gross income in the case of two-person families, rather than 80%, also to insure the continued eligibility of as many as possible of the children currently eligible and now receiving care.

• Because Federal law requires that some fees be charged to services recipients with gross incomes between 80% and 115% of the median gross income, fee schedules have been established for social group services for senior citizens and for day care services for children. The fees for participants in social group services for senior citizens will range from $0.50 to $1.00 per month for people with incomes between 80% and 115% of the median gross income. Two-person families with incomes between 80% and 90% of the median gross income will be charged a weekly fee ranging from $0.50 to $5.00 for day care services for children.

• Changes were made in all of the services definitions except Educational Services, Foster Care for Adults, and Social Adjustment Services. Most changes involved a more specific identification of the activities encompassed within a given service.

HOW TO REVIEW OR OBTAIN THE PLAN: The Final Plan consists of two volumes. Volume I contains material pertinent to the entire State. Volume II is a compendium of the 58 local social services district plans. The Plan is available for purchase at the cost of $21.50. Requests for the Plan accompanied by a check made payable to the New York State Department of Social Services should be sent to:

State Plan — Title XX, N.Y.S. Department of Social Services, 1450 Western Ave., Albany, N.Y. 12243

A limited number of copies of Volume I and the individual district plan are available free of charge at the local social services district offices where Volume II is also available for review.

All written comments received by the Department, records of the testimony presented at the public hearings, and the Department's responses are available for inspection at the State Department of Social Services, 1450 Western Avenue, Albany, N.Y. 12243.

WHERE TO OBTAIN INFORMATION AND APPLY FOR SERVICES: The public may obtain information on the Final Plan and apply for services at the local social services district offices. The address and telephone number of each district office follows:

Gardiner Girl Critical, Was Struck by Car

By Matt Spireng

GARDINER

A Gardiner teenager, injured in a car-pedestrian crash late Saturday in the Town of Gardiner, remained in critical condition today in Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie. According to Highland State Police, the victim, Mary C. Maxwell, 16, of Route 44-56, Gardiner, was struck by a car operated by Dwight D. Williams, 23, of Pine Bush, who told police he did not see the girl standing in the southbound lane of Route 208.

The girl was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital and was admitted to the intensive care unit following the 7:30 p.m. crash.

No tickets were issued in the incident.

Meanwhile, in other area police matters:

Highland State Police arrested John Eugene Clark, 25, of 2 Vassar Place, Poughkeepsie, on a charge of first degree assault in connection with an alleged stabbing last Thursday in the parking lot of the Bridge Circle Inn in Highland.

Police said Clark allegedly stabbed Jerry Gardner, 23, of South Street, Highland, following an argument.

Gardner remained in satisfactory condition today at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

Clark was jailed in lieu of $2,500 bail following arraignment.

State police said the arrest resulted from cooperation of the Town of Lloyd and City of Poughkeepsie Police.

***

In Woodstock, Theresa Costa, 20, of 174 Tinker Street, was arrested Sunday by state police on a warrant charging her with second degree possession of a forged instrument. Authorities said the charge stemmed from the alleged possession of a forged check in the amount of $75. Following arraignment the Costa woman was released in her own recognizance.

Police Beat

Also in Woodstock, a 16-year-old West Hurley youth was arrested Saturday night after he allegedly hurled a rock and shattered a sign erected just recently designating an environmental improvement project as Millstream Point.

Woodstock Constables credited James Collins of Millstream Road for his alertness in spotting the incident and in catching one of two youths who were allegedly present when the sign, valued at $450, was broken.

Police said Collins chased and caught one youth and then called police. As a result, a 16-year-old who was not identified because of his youthful offender status, was charged with criminal mischief.

The youth pleaded guilty to the charge before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten and was ordered to make restitution for the replacement of the sign.

***

In the Town of Shawangunk, state police arrested Russell Allen, 20, of Pine Bush on Sunday on a charge of first degree reckless endangerment after he allegedly fired a rifle from a car at a horseback rider. The rider was not reported injured. Allen was released in his own recognizance pending further court action following arraignment.

***

An investigation was reported launched following a fire of suspicious origin Sunday at the Farmer's Market, Main Street in New Paltz. Fire damage was reported in a storeroom and in part of the market; smoke damage was reported throughout the building. New Paltz firemen were at the scene for over an hour.

***

Kingston detectives are investigating a burglary discovered Sunday at the Mohican Market, 57 John Street. Detectives said 60 cartons of cigarettes valued at $250 and $50 in cash was reported missing. Entry was gained through a window.

Thruway Hitchhiker

Little "J.R.", a male two-month-old Beagle, took to the road recently. Much in the tradition of another adventurous Beagle—Snoopy, he chose the New York State Thruway for his jaunt. Happily, he was rescued and brought to the Ulster County SPCA where he patiently awaits a new home. Perhaps his name, "J.R." means he is "just right" for you. (Freeman photo)

Extra Policemen, Firemen Good for City : CBA President

KINGSTON

Glenn R. Fitzgerald, president of the Central Businessmen's Association, has commented in a news release on the Freeman article stating that the Kingston police and fire departments reportedly are overstaffed.

"With this being another year of austerity and also an election year, it's not surprising to find out some of the city's deficiencies," Fitzgerald said. "We all know that everything can be ripped apart, maintained, or improved. There's not a better story for print than government waste. It's sure to capture headlines, and make the front page along with disasters and attempted assassinations.

"With respect to the headline story that the Kingston police and fire departments being overstaffed—we the Businessman's Association feel they're under-staffed—how could they possibly be over-staffed in these days of trouble.

"I don't believe the people of Kingston feel their city is just another average city. I'm sure they feel their city is better than average, after all we're known as the Colonial City and the county seat.

"Let's just suppose the departments did have an extra four or five policemen or firemen—we then have better than average protection—don't we? That's certainly not bad news. Imagine not enough policemen to fight crime and not enough firemen to put out a fire—that sure would make headlines.

"But in Kingston we've got the reverse, so they say, too many policemen to fight crime and too many firemen to put out fires. Maybe what we really need is lots of crime and lots of fires and then next week's front page headline will state that the departments are under-staffed.

"I'm sure happy we haven't had the disturbances that Newburgh and Poughkeepsie have had in the past. Perhaps they're under-staffed and can't handle the situations. "We must look at the police and fire departments as money in the bank—it's nice to know that it's there when you might need it. The police and fire departments are the security for the city."

Perry Takes Exception to Darling's Stand

KINGSTON

County Legislator Eugene Perry, a Central Broadway Businessman, took exception today to statements by Republican mayoral candidate William K. Darling in reference to business-opening ceremonies in Kingston.

Darling, observing Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo in a ribbon-cutting picture at Perry's new restaurant published on Sept. 21, said last week, "being mayor requires more than having one's picture taken cutting ribbons."

Perry takes that statement personally. "I feel it is a personal attack against me for inviting Mayor Koenig and Alderman-at-Large Gallo to the grand opening of my restaurant on Broadway.

"Instead of criticizing, the Republican candidate for mayor should be proud as a citizen of Kingston that another business has opened its doors, cleaned up a store and is going to bring more tax dollars to the city of Kingston.

Ribbon cutting means progress," declared Perry.

Perry opened a submarine sandwich shop at the corner of Brewster Street and Broadway, former site of Bud's Subs. He is a candidate for reelection on the Democrat ticket this fall.

Perry also questioned Darling's "integrity" in regards to "what you have personally done with real estate on Central Broadway. Why not tell the residents of Kingston just how much money you will personally be making with your real estate dealings?"

Darling's press releases were not his own, that they were "the work of his so-called Madison Avenue public relations man (William Donovan) and his political-pro ghost writer who also serves as his campaign manager" (S. James Matthews).

Perry concludes by accusing Darling of "speaking out of both sides of his mouth in an apparent attempt to mislead, confuse and scare the general public."

Buses Getting Closer

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig announced today that the city has filed signed contracts with the State Department of Transportation that will bring Kingston a step closer to the acquisition of three min-buses within the next few months.

Contracts with the state for its $15,000 share of the overall $118,000 project were filed on Sept. 12. The program already has federal approval. Contracts were delivered to the city on the $96,644 federal share on Aug. 12.

The city's share will be five percent; about $6,000.

City officials are currently finalizing bid documents and specifications for purchase of the three buses. The state has advised the city to await receipt of signed contracts prior to advertising for bids, Koenig said.

The previously announced target date for bid advertising had been late October to mid-November of this year.

Tentative Agreement

BOSTON (UPI) — A tentative agreement, apparently ending a week-long strike by Boston's teachers, was reached today.

Details of the agreement between the teachers and the School Committee were not disclosed immediately.

Henry Robinson, president of the union, said the agreement would be studied by the union's Executive Board and then would be submitted to the teachers for a vote.

Contract disputes still plagued school districts in Delaware, Idaho, Indiana, California, New York, Ohio and elsewhere in Massachusetts. The Boston settlement came as Albert Shanker, president of the parent American Federation of Teachers, told the striking Boston teachers that the AFT would stand behind them.

Don't call Directory Assistance for Area Codes

It could cost you money

...there are cheaper ways.

If you ask the Directory Assistance operator for an area code, your request must be counted under the Directory Assistance Charge and Credit plan.

But you can dial the regular operator—the one you reach when you dial zero—and get the area code information at no extra charge.

And, of course, the front pages of your telephone directory have an area code map, plus listings of hundreds of area codes for cities and towns throughout the country.

Our suggestion: check the directory first. It's probably faster. Or call the regular operator.

But save your Directory Assistance requests for phone numbers.

'Nuclear Allergy'

During his recent visit to Tokyo, Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger tried to impress upon Japanese leaders that their country has been "too much of a passive partner" in its mutual security alliance with the United States of America. The government of Prime Minister Takeo Miki appears willing to do something about it, but how much it can do may depend on a change of attitude by the Japanese people.

The Japanese have had some powerful emotional reasons to lean on the United States as the active partner in our alliance. The scars of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and the rest of the enormous price paid by Japan for its adventure in militarism in World War 2, made it logical for the Japanese to adopt a postwar constitution limiting its military to a 250,000-man self-defense force.

However, the logic for that decision has been disappearing, even if the emotions that contributed to it have lingered on. The "nuclear allergy" created by Japan's wartime memories may be understandable, but it is preventing the Japanese from accepting responsibilities for their defense which cannot be wished away.

It hardly makes sense for a nation now numbered among the world's industrial giants to be investing less than one percent of its gross national product in defense. Japan is surely aware that the U.S. Congress is growing skeptical toward U.S. military obligations abroad which give the Americans a lopsided share of the burden.

Mr. Schlesinger's visit to Tokyo has already resulted in one important step—an agreement that U.S. and Japanese defense chiefs will have annual consultations, a procedure that has been standard practice for many years with most of our other allies. This alone will help overcome the "passive" nature of Japan in defense decisions affecting security throughout the entire Far East.

Mr. Miki is urging his people to rid themselves of "preoccupation" with the idea that their defense cooperation with the United States and the presence of U.S. forces on their soil represent some kind of subordination to American interests. What they represent is the fact that Japanese and American interest in peace and stability in the Far East coincide. More to the point, the Communist victories in Southeast Asia and the potential this creates for aggressive moves elsewhere increases the importance of U.S.-Japanese cooperation on defense. Uncertainty over the use of U.S. bases in Japan in the event of a new war in Korea, for instance, should not be allowed to continue.

Like many of our allies, Japan has economic problems that make this a difficult time to consider greater investments in defense. This is no excuse, however, for the Japanese to dodge responsibilities which go with the economic and political maturity their country has attained in the years since World War 2.

"Sometimes I wish football was only a game!"

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Our search for the official slogan for America's bicentennial will end on December 1. Then, in the American way, the people will determine the winning slogan by national ballot.

Here's how it will work:

As the slogans arrive, they are screened by the American Legion, Jaycees and General Federation of Women's Clubs, which will select the best 200 slogans.

These will be turned over to an executive screening board, consisting of the 55 state and territorial bicentennial chairmen. They will determine the 20 finalists.

On January 18, the finalists will be announced the football Superbowl game. For the next month, the public will be invited to vote for the slogan they think is most fitting. This will become the nation's official bicentennial slogan.

The winner will be invited to take his family on a month-long tour of America, winding winding up at the White House. American Motors will give him a new station wagon, and Holiday Inns will put the family up each night at the closest available inn. To cover the remaining travel expenses, the Copernicus Society will give the winner $5,000.

There will be additional awards, including cash prizes from the Copernicus Society, for the runnerup slogans. All entries should be mailed to Slogans USA, Box 1976, Washington, D.C. The national balloting will be cut off on February 16, and the winners will be announced on the first day of spring, March 21. The Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls have offered to tabulate the votes.

'HAVE TRUNK, WILL TRAVEL'

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The rapidly worsening impact both at home and abroad of congressional investigations is rushing White House reorganization of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), including sacking director William Colby, with grave obstacles immediately encountered.

The original plan had been to await recommendations of Senate and House investigators before moving into major reorganizations of the government's intelligence community.

That sensible timetable could not withstand the pulverizing impact of the sensational disclosures now being carried from congressional hearing rooms to every corner of the world. Thus, even as gory revelations continue, the White House is beginning its first effort to restore some credibility to the shattered remnants of American intelligence: a reshaping of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board (FIAB). Even that first step, however, is confronted with monumental difficulties.

The most recent catalyst forcing the White House into a public start on reorganization was the front-page picture of Colby's poison-dart gun. The photo, carried all over the world, lent juicy credence to the CIA as a kind of International Murder, Inc.

"I was appalled," one White House official told us. Another presidential adviser said the fact that Colby was specifically asked by the Senate CIA committee, headed by Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, to bring the gun with him was not a mitigating factor. "Colby shouldn't have done it," the adviser added. "That picture alone just about doubled all the damage done to the U.S. since Congress started investigating."

Colby's impossible position as CIA director during the exhumation of every closet skeleton accumulated in the agency's 28-year history is fully recognized in the White House. Nevertheless, Colby's policy of "let it all hang out" boomeranged badly last week. His tenure as CIA director has accordingly been shortened and an active search is now underway for a successor from outside CIA ranks to start the awesome job of restoring some respectability to the shattered agency.

Indeed, Colby's original prepared statement for the Church committee included what higher officials thought was a blanket admission of agencywide culpability in failure to destroy toxic poisons. Colby agreed, in the statement actually given the committee, to narrow the blame to bureaucratic inefficiency.

The key political need in the reorganization now quietly underway by White House planners is to establish confidence and credibility. The first likely step will be a presidential order beefing up the moribund FIAB and giving it direct oversight over all CIA operations.

The slogan search has already brought dramatic, overwhelming evidence that Americans love their country and are eager to declare it. One year ago, we wrote:

"In times past, Americans have been able to distill the cause of the hour into a phrase, a rallying cry, a stirring slogan. To recite them is to review our history . . .

"At this time, as we emerge from the Watergate nightmare into the dawn's early light, as we near 20-years under a common flag as a free and progressing people, are there the right words to reaffirm our faith in America?"

"The bicentennial has need of a slogan which will capsule the past 200 years and ring down through the next 200 years. Amid all the hopes and conflicts that distract and divide us today, is there a unifying phrase for our bicentennial year?"

"The words ought not to be the forced effort of a political ghost writer but the spontaneous eruption of some grateful citizen, some struggler in the field. We, therefore, invite the citizens of America — the school children, laborers, housewives, veterans — to express their feelings about America in a slogan."

This brought a spontaneous outpouring of slogans from the heart of the nation. Hundreds of thousands of Americans, each in his own words, expressed his feelings about the country.

Dozens of corporations also responded with offers of support. Edward J. Piszek, founder of the Copernicus Society, got to us first with an unsolicited offer to help finance the slogan search. The society also put up thousands of dollars in prizes.

Bill Walton, chairman of Holiday Inns, came to Washington to help plan the campaign. The National Association of Food Chains offered its support. The National Football League, which has its own $25,000 bicentennial essay contest, also got behind the slogan search.

Posters urging people to send in their slogans are being circulated in 50,000 supermarkets, 2,000 F.W. Woolworth stores, 1,800 Holiday Inns and 1,700 J.C. Penney stores. And 2,800 state and county fairs have been participating.

Derus Media Service offered to promote the slogan search through some 6,000 publications. Lee Furr Studio produced radio spots, which the Mutual radio network and hundreds of independent stations are featuring. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is also playing the spots on its 96-station network.

The promotion campaign is directed by Henry J. Kaufman & Associates, the talented Washington advertising firm, which represents the Advertising Council. Up With People has 500 young people promoting the slogans in song around the country.

Encyclopaedia Britannica will include the slogan campaign in its 1976 yearbook, thus making it part of history. And the American Song Festival will put the winning slogan to music.

Such magazines as Readers Digest, Jack and Jill, La Luz and the NAACP's Crisis magazine have appealed for slogans. Such celebrities as Howard Cosell, Robert Young and Irv Kupcinet have also given strong support.

Also active in promoting the slogan campaign are the National Association of Broadcasters, National Education Association, American Freedom Train, Boys Clubs of America, Films Incorporated, Gemini Rising, PepsiCo and Phillips 66.

Inside Report

The CIA Rebuilding Problems

But even in this comparatively easy phase of the top-to-bottom reorganization, President Ford is encountering serious problems. His first choice to head a strengthened FIAB was George Shultz, former Secretary of the Treasury who now heads Bechtel Corp., an international contracting firm.

Mr. Ford wanted Shultz, now a FIAB member, to become its chairman for two reasons: first, his great prestige in Western Europe, where CIA dismemberment raises doubts about the sanity of the U.S. government; second, his acceptability to U.S. politicians.

As of this writing, Shultz is adamant in refusing to accept the post, held the past five years by retired Navy Adm.

George Anderson.

Beyond Shultz's refusal is the lack of consensus outside the White House as to how much oversight authority should be given the new FIAB. Although a recent secret meeting of the nine-member board was never announced, it is no secret in the White House that board members are highly unenthusiastic about large, new oversight responsibilities. The main purpose of the all-day meeting was to discuss the new oversight role proposed by the Rockefeller commission on CIA activities.

Outside intelligence experts, for example, worry about harsh congressional reactions if Mr. Ford attempts to broaden the advisory board's role as a safety valve on the CIA's secret operations or even over its intelligence analysis. The mood of Capitol Hill is, at best, to keep its own tight control over the agency — or, at worst, to deny the CIA any future clandestine operations role at all.

Yet, Mr. Ford is convinced he cannot wait longer to begin the painful rebuilding of integrity in America's intelligence operations. One place he can start without seeking new legislation is the FIAB.

But while Congress continues to tear this nation's vital intelligence system apart, the administration is finding that putting it back together is excruciatingly difficult.

The bartender would call his boss. There would be some whispers. The captain would accept $200 — "for me and a higher-up." And walk out. He was never seen again.

In Murphy's eyes, if there was anything worse than a crooked cop, it was a crooked fake cop. He put his best men on it, but they couldn't catch up with the "captain." Then he put Tim on it.

"Son", he said, "give it everything you've got. If you bag this man, you may make deputy inspector before I retire." Tim promised. He worked like a beaver.

Fortunately, luck isn't always with the intelligent. Tim sent in weekly reports of failure. The inspector was going frantic putting colored pins in a map on his wall. The phony captain was here, there, everywhere. There was no pattern to his larceny.

After three months, Murphy sent a sergeant out to try to get a jump ahead of the "captain." The sergeant went into dozens of bars and said that if a police captain showed up, promising to fix a bar violation to stall him and call the sergeant.

It worked. A bartender phoned the sergeant. "I stalled the man," he said. "He'll be in to collect tomorrow at 10."

The sergeant fixed up a microphone and a tape. When the cops made the pinch, they had two prisoners. One was Tim Murphy. He had caught up with the fake captain a month before and they were partners. The old inspector retired. There was no party for him...

Shoo-Fly and Guess Who?

Everybody knew that Murph was a straight cop; he'd hang his old lady for lifting a penny from a poor box. He ran the shoo-fly squad, which is to say that Inspector Murphy and his merry men spied on other policemen.

Murph had a nose that looked like a redlight on a caboose. He was shy of six-feet tall, about five wide, and had blue beebee eyes. The inspector had a nice even disposition—he was suspicious of everybody.

He had a wife named Kate stashed away somewhere, and an athletic son named Tim. The kid was a decathlon champ in college. Everybody in the old Center Street Building was surprised when Tim Murphy took the civil service test to be a policeman.

The only smell Tim got of police work was from his old man and that was ripe. The odor was bound to repel, not compel. The inspector killed more cops in his time than the hoodlums did. When Murph grabbed you by the neck, suicide was for the cowards.

Tim finished the test in the top 20. The chief inspector put him out in Great Kills to keep him far from his old man. Most of the headquarters lawyers thought that Tim would have made a great attorney.

But he was hooked on police work. And he made good, in spite of his father. He made plain clothes in two years, then detective third and he was on his way.

None of us in the press room knew that Murph had a jealous eye on his son. Tim didn't either. But the inspector waited just long enough for his boy to get a couple of decorations and citations for good pinches.

Then he put his son's name in for transfer to the vice squad. The reporters thought Tim would fight it. To the contrary, he seemed eager to join dear old dad. The day the commissioner okayed the deal was the first time I ever saw Murph smile.

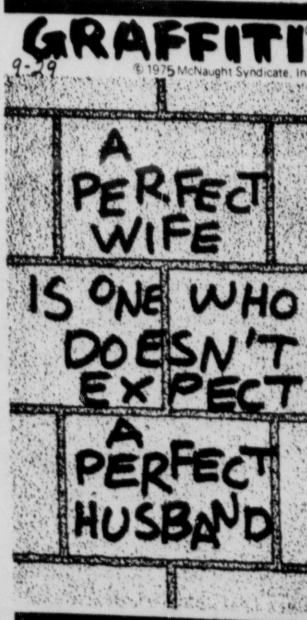

He worked his kid's bunions off. Murph sent Tim out on every bribery tip involving policeman. He learned how to give complaining civilians marked money and how to hide to watch the transfer of money. He made a lot of arrests. A lot of heads were rolling.

Then, Murph had a peculiar case. Somewhere in Harlem a fake policeman was robbing tavern owners for $200 apiece. Witnesses said the man claimed to be a police captain.

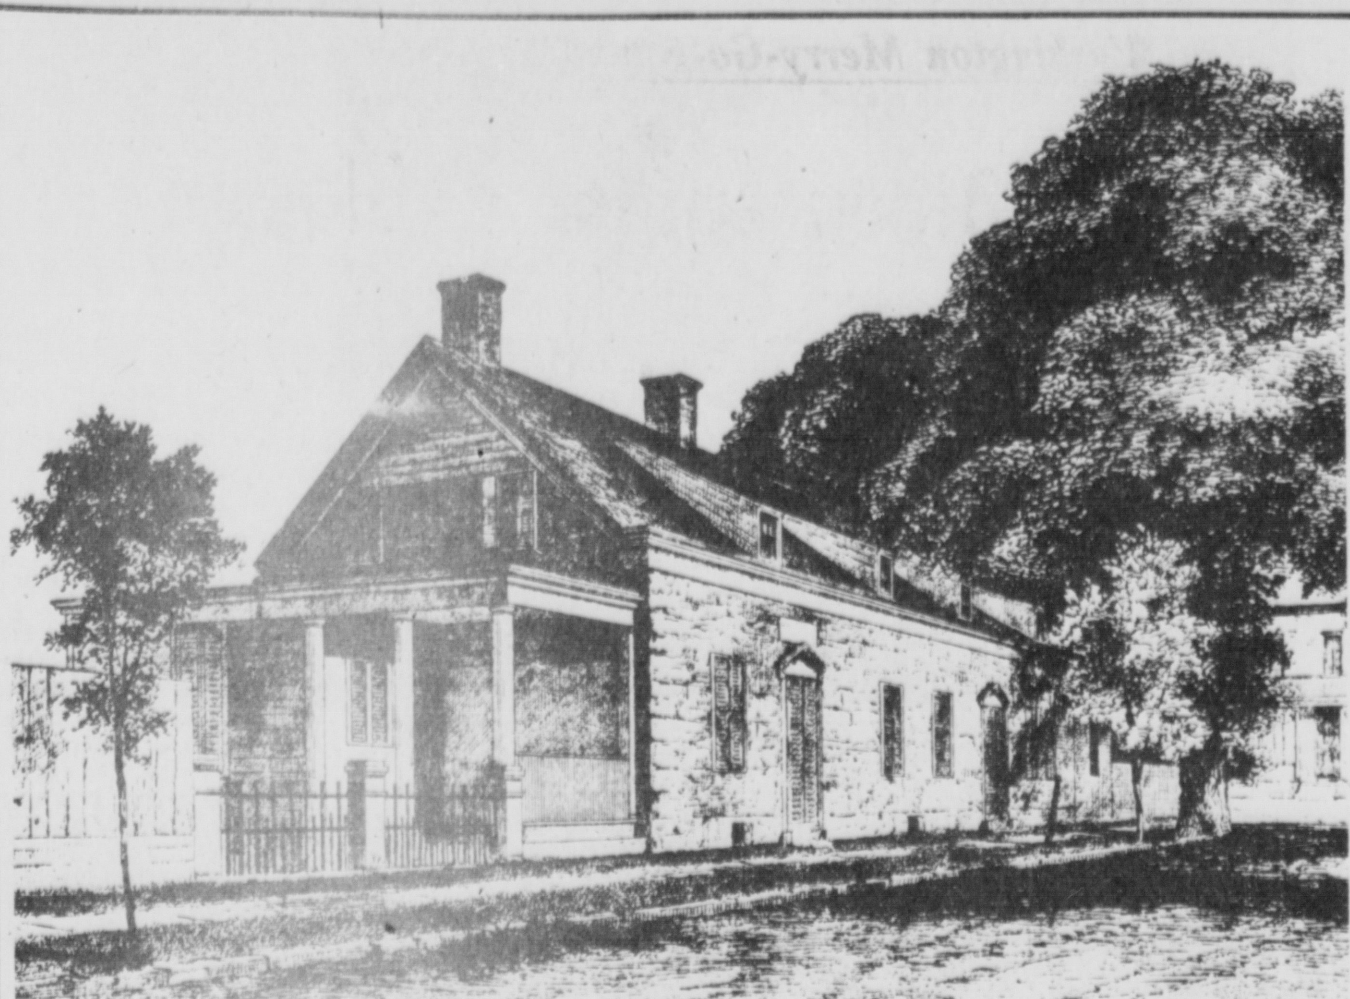

He had a gold shield and an I.D. card. He worked a soft touch. Most taverns get in a little trouble with the state liquor board now and then. Either they're caught serving a drink after hours, or a minor bought a drink.

This dignified fake walked into a bar, bought a drink, got friendly with the bartender, and said: "How did you make out with that little problem you had with the S.L.A.?"

Four out five bartenders had a problem. They were facing a hearing. The police captain would flash his shield, look around carefully, and say, "If you want, I can take care of it and you won't face any hearing at all."

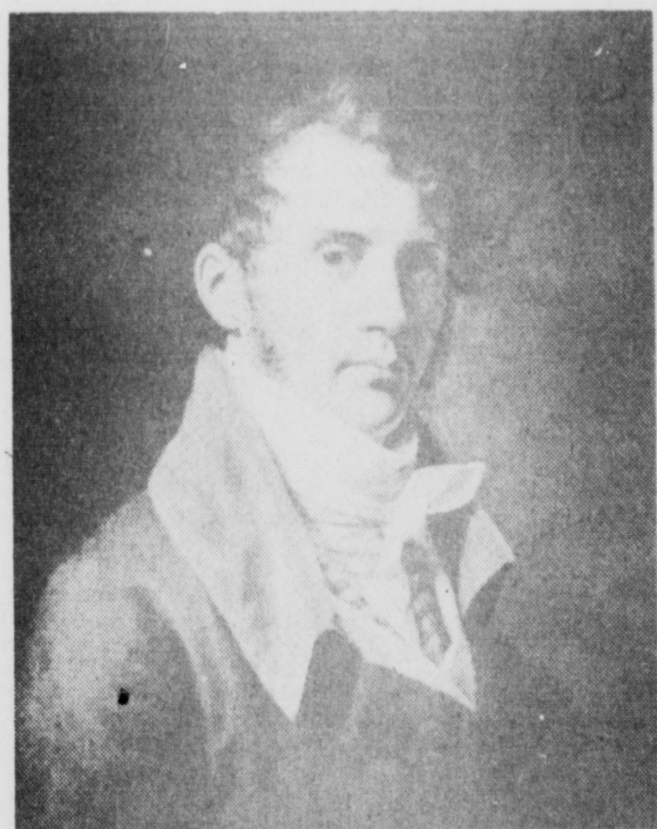

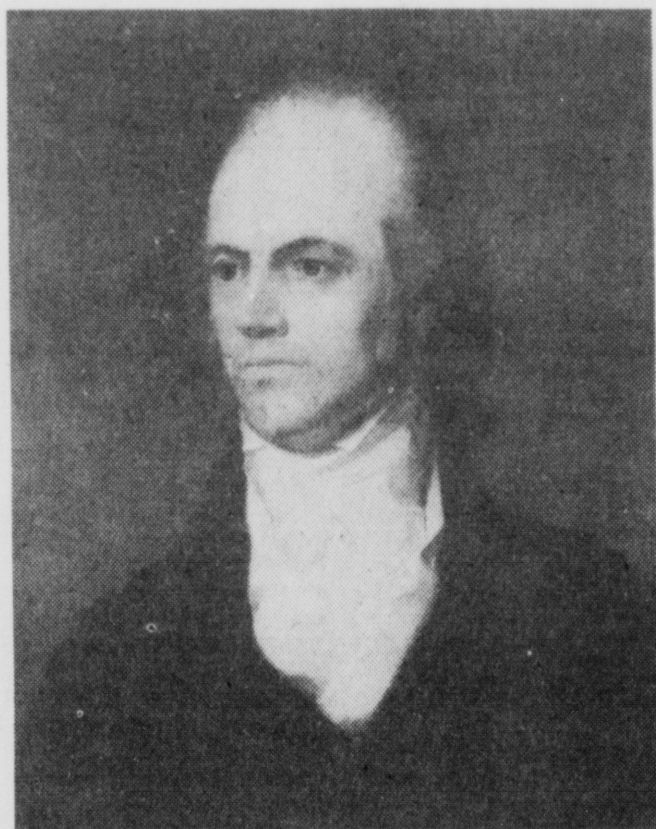

The Senate House in a drawing of the early 1880's.

The Senate House as it looks today. Now maintained as a public museum, the stone residence here in Kingston housed the first meeting of the New York State Senate in 1777.

John Vanderlyn, native Kingstonian and significant American artist, became a member of the National Academy; gained high honors in Europe and the United States. The Senate House Museum is noted for its "unequalled" gallery of Vanderlyn paintings.

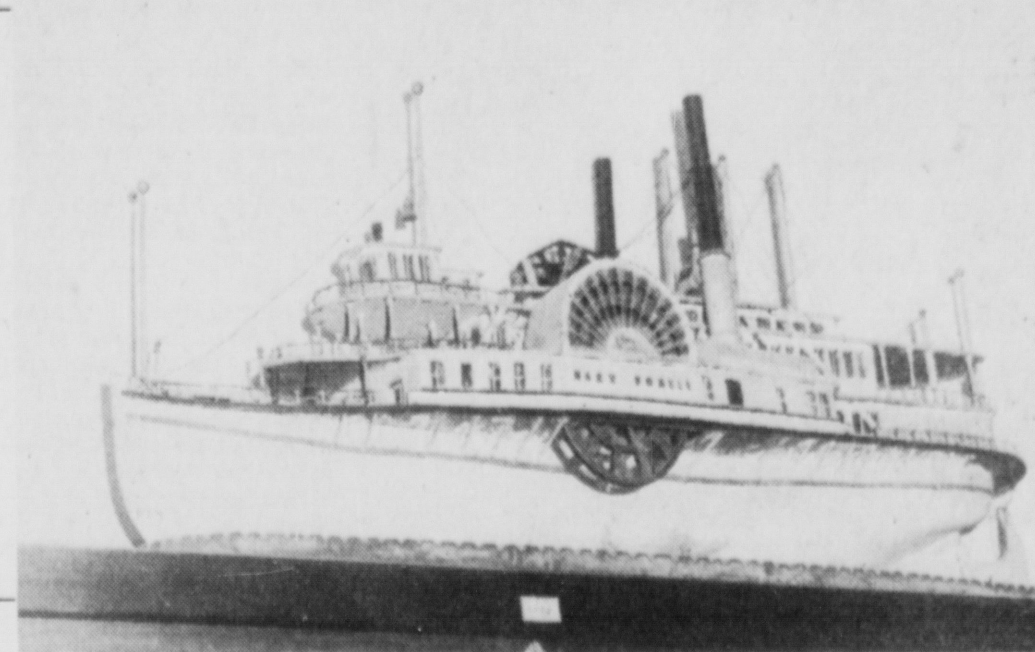

Among the many Revolutionary Era notables painted by John Vanderlyn was Aaron Burr. He painted this portrait in 1802-03 after he came under the patronage of Burr, who sent him to study with Gilbert Stuart and, eventually, with the great French masters.

Major Research Projects at Senate House

Relying on Authentic Bicentennial Changes To Enhance Kingston's Historical Impact

By Tobie Geertsema

KINGSTON

Virginia has its Williamsburg; Massachusetts its Plimoth Plantation; Vermont its Shelburne Museum. But only Kingston has its Senate House — unique because, unlike so many other structures, it is not a modern building constructed in a quaint historical style. It is, instead, a priceless treasure — a significant building that is legitimately old — and one that has grown and developed over a period of three centuries. And priceless, too, is the potpourri of Hudson Valley history spiced with unique collector specimens housed under its roof.

That very same roof that has been much in the limelight of late, its shingles opposed by some as wasteful spending. There are others, however, equally concerned with money matters, who see a new roof as a means of helping preserve the all too rare and ancient stone walls from crumbling in Kingston's unpredictable climate.

They urge, in addition, a burglar-proof security system — and humidity controls more fiercely protective of irreplaceable furniture and its veneer . . . and protective, too, of the 200-year old paint surfaces of priceless canvases.

They will most certainly get them for, with the bicentennial as the key, money for all these projects is now available, after years of tight-fisted refusal. And money will be invested, too, in the Loughran House (the former funeral home on the Senate House site) for its conversion into expanded exhibit space, badly needed offices, library research areas, and storage room for furniture and archives.

Still, there is more to the Senate House than roofs and burglar alarms and air conditioning. Far more fascinating to those pulled by a nostalgia they can't define is the behind-the-scenes endeavors of the site staff.

To reexamine the ingenuity and imagination that came to fruition in generations of Americans here, they are devising continually fresh ways of "telling the story." And it is always a challenge . . . one now being met by focusing on major research projects.

The copper roof clapped atop the Senate House in the 1920's was only one of many violations of the building's integrity. Hopefully inviolate will be the many exhibit changes planned for the bicentennial. Toward this end, the staff is now studiously investigating the furnishings most appropriate to the house for the Revolutionary War period. Only those furnishings that would have been used in 1777 will hold sway. Out will go Victorian chairs and 19th century china; in will come the candlesticks, beds and old Dutch looms of Colonial Kingston.

"It's an exciting research project," says James P. Gold, Historic Site manager. "An in-depth study of Ulster County household inventories from 1760 to 1790." So scarce are such inventories that Gold urges anyone in possession of these manuscripts to send him a copy or transcript. It is these household inventories that will guide the way toward furnishing the house as it was when Abraham Van Gaasbeek, a "trustee of the Corporation of Kingston," lived there in 1777.

Gold and his researchers, conservators and restoration crews need to know more about Abraham, his profession and standard of living, in order to assure authentic bicentennial displays by next spring. Only then will the site's three buildings stand as prized monuments to the political history that led to New York's independence and Kingston's importance in the founding of the state and the drafting of its constitution. And a monument, as well, to our social history, represented in a cross section of lifestyles during the Revolution.

Vanderlyn portraits are known for their exacting detail with glowing skin tones and rich colors of the Colonial period reflecting the gentility of that day. One example is this 1799 painting of Mrs. Edward Church and child.

The Vanderlyn room alone is worth days of study. It includes, in addition to his priceless paintings, many of his sketches, much of his correspondence, and considerable of his personal memorabilia.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean M. Bullock of 6545 Eddie Street, Saugerties, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marsha Carlotta, to David Donald Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Dickinson of Elizabethtown, N.Y.

The bride-elect will be graduated from Saugerties High School, class of 1976. Her fiancé attended school in Elizabethtown and was graduated from St. Mary's High School in Colorado Springs, Colo. He is now serving in the U.S. Army.

A January 3, 1976 wedding date is set.

The engagement of Maria Drewes to James S. Countryman has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Georgine Drewes of Lake Katrine. She is also the daughter of the late John E. Drewes. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Countryman of 34 Groff Street, Kingston.

Miss Drewes is a 1974 graduate of Kingston High School and is attending Richard the First, School of Beauty Culture.

Her fiancé, a 1974 alumnus of KHS, is a self-employed contractor.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Fall Conference of Legion Auxiliaries

The Fall Conference of the Third District of American Legion Auxiliaries will be held Saturday, Oct. 4 at Sawyerkill Country Club, Washington Avenue, Saugerties. Registration will take place from 9 to 10 a.m.; the conference will convene promptly at 10 a.m. Guests will include Mrs. Edward (Alice) Kiernan, Department president; Mrs. George (Luana) Clow, Mrs. Robert (Betty) Perkins, Mrs. Peter (Annie) Moskwa, Department vice presidents; Mrs. Stanley Matthews, Mrs. Jesse Haley, Mrs. Kenneth Hack and Mrs. Herman Harrington, past Department presidents; Mrs. Niles (Irene) Tanner, Junior past chairman; Mrs. Francis Dempsey, District Secretary; Mrs. Edward Bardelli, Veterans Administration Volunteer Service representative.

A luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. Reservations with remittance must be made immediately with Mrs. Francis Dempsey of Port Ewen. Name, and Unit or County represented should be included.

It is hoped that a large number of members from the Third District will attend this fall workshop meeting to greet Department officers to become acquainted with the programs and goals for the coming year.

Weight Loss Program

Mrs. Samuel J. Campili, registered dietitian, will conduct a 15-session program on "Weight Loss through Nutrition Counseling and Behavior Modification," beginning Oct. 15, at the Arlington Reformed Church, Raymond and Haight Avenues, Poughkeepsie. The course is for those persons who are more than 20 percent overweight and who have had difficulty taking off weight and keeping it off. Classes will be limited to 13 persons.

A free information session to explain the program will be held Tuesday, Sept. 30, from 7 to 8 p.m. at the Arlington Reformed Church. The public is invited.

Fair

Sherry Smith (L), chairperson of the Church of Christ the King Bicentennial Craft and Produce Fair scheduled Oct. 3-4, goes over some of the available articles with Margaret Osterhout and Alby Cooke. The event, set for the church grounds, Route 213, Stone Ridge, will be held Oct. 3 from 7 until 9 p.m. and Oct. 4 from 10 in the morning until 4 p.m. Luncheon will be served at noon on Saturday.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. John Verdon and daughter Deborah of 34 Appletree Drive in Saugerties have returned home from a three week vacation in Abilene, Tex., where the Verdon's visited their son and daughter-in-law, Airman First Class Eric R. and Dorothy Verdon. Airman First Class Verdon is stationed at Dyes Air Force Base where he is involved in pneudraulic repairs on B52 bombers.

While the Verdon's were in Texas, they visited many historical sites, but the highlight of the whole vacation took place when their daughter-in-law, Dorothy Verdon, gave birth to a baby girl, Jennifer Alida. Deborah Verdon is godmother for her niece.

Mrs. Eric Verdon is the former Dorothy J. Miller. Maternal grandparents of the new arrival are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Miller of Ulster Park.

Twice-Married Woman Torn by Grave Invitations

Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Mauro Jr. of Glasco celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary earlier this month at St. Joseph's Church hall in Glasco. The party was hosted by the family. Approximately 150 guests attended, including relatives and friends from New York City, Albany, Rochester and Florida. Married in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, on Sept. 10, 1950 by the Rev. Archibald Damm, they were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buono Jr. who were in attendance at the anniversary party. Other members of the wedding party also were present. Music was provided by the "Relatives." Mr. and Mrs. Mauro have children: Pam, Marilyn, David, Sal, all at home. Mrs. Mauro is the former Theresa Misasi of Glasco. Mr. Mauro is employed at Hudson Cement. Mrs. Mauro is employed by Saugerties Central Schools.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, Jane, was widowed after 45 years of marriage to Joe Smith. When Joe died, she bought a double plot with a big single grave stone with "SMITH" across it. She put his name on one side of it, plus the date of his birth and date of his death. The other side was for her when her time came.

Well, she ups and marries Chester Lind, who was never married before. Chester has expressed to wish to be buried side by side with my sister, Jane, and he has two plots to accommodate them in his family gravesite.

My sister is no longer a Smith, so how can she be buried with Joe Smith in the Smith family plot even if she wanted to?

How is a problem like this handled?

her wishes known, my guess is that if she outlives Chester, she'll join the Smiths. If not, Chester will bury her with the Linds.

DEAR ABBY: I feel sorry for the Sunday school teacher who has a discipline problem with the pastor's 6-year-old son and doesn't know what to do. Being a pastor myself, I know that every Tom, Dick and Harry threaten to quit the church if they don't get their way.

I've heard everything from, "If my daughter doesn't get to play the organ," to, "if my grandfather doesn't get to preach his own funeral service, I am going to quit this church!"

When anyone tries to blackmail me in this manner, I simply get out my pen and note pad and ask them to put it in writing. And I hold them to it afterwards, too!

No church needs members like those I have lost. If it weren't for the bad language, I'd tell them all to go to hell.

MISSOURI PASTOR
DEAR ABBY: And if it weren't for your restraint, you'd be looking for a new pulpit.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, but I look much younger. My husband is 30, but he looks older. (He's losing his hair fast.) The problem is that everybody thinks I am his daughter, and this irritates us. In fact, we almost hate to go anyplace where people don't know us because everybody makes that mistake.

Have you any suggestions on how I can look older without dressing like an old lady?

LOOKS LIKE A KID
DEAR LOOKS: The solution to your problem could be to get your husband to look YOUNGER. Has he thought of a hairpiece? That would help. In the meantime, enjoy looking "like a kid." Too soon will come the day when time, the subtle thief of youth, will change all that.

DEAR ABBY: Tell FLAT to cheer up. The slim, willowy look is in. Look at the fashion models.

At 14, I was flat, and still am at 35, but it doesn't bother me.

I still have the body and muscle tone of a teenager, while most of my big-busted sisters are getting flabby and saggy. SMALL AND SATISFIED

Official Inspection Visit

Mrs. Emma E. Coon, District 2 president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, made her official inspection visit to Putnam County Council at Cold Spring this month. Anna Coons, past state president, accompanied the president.

They also attended an organizational meeting of the Gold Chevron Ball committee at the Commodore Hotel in New York City, accompanied by Donald V.R. Coon, past county commander. The ball is scheduled for April 3, 1976, at the Commodore.

Another visitation was made Sept. 21 by Mrs. Coon, accompanied by Kay Ham, Dutchess County Council vice-president, to the 24th annual Veterans of Foreign Wars Day at the VA Hospital, Castle Point. Pins were presented to several Auxiliary members for hours of volunteer service to the hospital with May Burke of Putnam County receiving a pin for her 5,000 hours of service.

O.J. Punctures Pitt's Steel Curtain

By UPI

Leave it to O.J. Simpson to make the Steel Curtain look like tin foil.

People are not supposed to run against the Pittsburgh Steeler defense. After all, hadn't they held Buffalo, Oakland and Minnesota to a grand total of 146 yards rushing in post-season competition as they marched to the Super Bowl title last year. And hadn't they completely frustrated Simpson last Dec. 22, holding him to just 49 yards in a 32-14 playoff victory over Buffalo.

Simpson absolutely devastated the Steeler defense Sunday, carrying for 227 yards, including a 88-yard touchdown burst, as the Bills stunned Pittsburgh 30-21.

The 227 yards were only 23 short of Simpson's single-game NFL record of 250 set two years ago against New England and give him a total of 450 in two games. He carried for 173 in a 42-14 rout of the New York Jets last week.

"There are not enough superlatives in my vocabulary to describe O.J. Simpson," said Joe Greene, the Steelers' star defensive tackle. "The Juice comes close to being a one-man team and there's no denying it. The Juice is the man. He is what the other backs want to be."

"O.J. was something special," said Steeler Coach Chuck Noll. "The Bills are a helluva football team. They completely controlled the line of scrimmage both ways. Anyone who runs the ball on us we're in awe of."

The Bills' overall net yardage of 434 yards and 310 yards rushing were the most ever gained against a Steeler team coached by Noll.

"My offensive line did an absolutely super job moving the Steelers out," Simpson said. "They deserve the credit. You're only as good as the guys up front blocking for you. And don't forget the job our defense did, too. We were able to control their running attack and that was a big factor in the win."

Simpson carried 28 times and the most spectacular was his 88-yard TD run in the third period. The Juice took the ball, bolted to the right outside of linebacker Jack Ham, who got himself trapped inside, and outran the entire defense to the goal line.

"Joe Ferguson had planned to give the ball to Jim Braxton to go up the middle," said Simpson, "but when he saw it was crowded, he gave the ball to me and I moved to the outside."

It was the fourth 200-yard game of his career, tying him with former Cleveland star Jim Brown for the NFL record.

And while most backs shoot for a 1,000-yard season, Simpson is aiming at surpassing his record 2,003-yard effort of two years ago.

"I don't see why it can't be done again," Simpson said. "I feel really good and we have a solid young club with the best offensive line in football. We felt all through training camp that we had the best team in the league and I think we're proving it now."

Buffalo took a 3-0 lead in the second quarter on John Leybold's 37-yard field goal and boosted it to 10-0 on a bizarre play. Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw cocked his arm to pass and the ball squirted loose. Defensive tackle Earl Edwards picked it up, was trapped in a bearhug and lateraled to Mike Kadish, the other tackle, and he ran it over from the 26.

SPORTS TODAY

Ferguson threw a seven-yard TD pass to Reuben Gant and Simpson turned in his 88-yard run for a 23-0 lead before Franco Harris scored the first of his two TDs. Ferguson threw 28 yards to Bob Chandler for another score before Joe Gilliam hit Randy Grossman from 20 yards out for Pittsburgh.

The victory left Buffalo unbeaten in two starts while the Steelers are 1-1.

Seven other teams remained unbeaten after two games. Dallas stopped St. Louis 37-31 in overtime, Washington crushed the New York Giants 49-13, Oakland overtook Baltimore 31-20, Cincinnati shut out New Orleans 21-0, Houston ripped San Diego 33-17, Minnesota trounced Cleveland 42-10 and Detroit edged Atlanta 17-14. Elsewhere, the New York Jets downed Kansas City 30-24, Miami overcame New England 22-14, Los Angeles dumped San Francisco 23-14 and Chicago shaded Philadelphia 15-13. Green Bay is at Denver tonight.

Cowboys 37, Cardinals 31 (ot)

Roger Staubach's three-yard flip to Billy Joe Dupree at 7:53 of overtime lifted Dallas past St. Louis. The score ended a passing duel between Staubach and the Cardinals' Jim Hart. Staubach had three TD passes, also hitting Jean Fugett from a yard out and Drew Pearson from 12. Hart threw for four TDs, including a 35-yarder to Jackie Smith and 37-yarder to Mel Gray in the last quarter to tie the game. Hart also had an 80-yard TD pass to Earl Thomas and rookie Tom Henderson had a 97-yard kickoff return for Dallas.

Raiders 31, Colts 20

Rookie Neal Colzie set up three TDs with punt returns of 26, 43 and 23 yards as Oakland rallied to beat Baltimore. The Colts surged to a 10-0 lead before the Raiders came back on an 11-yard TD run by Harold Hart, a four-yard TD pass from Kei Stabler to Dave Casper and TD runs by Jess Phillips and Pet Banaszak.

Bengals 21, Saints 0

Ken Anderson threw three TD passes, two to Isaac Curtis to lead Cincinnati past New Orleans. Anderson hit Curtis with scoring passes of 52 and five yards and also threw a 14-yarder to Charlie Joiner. The Saints have yet to score a TD in two games.

Oilers 30, Chargers 17

Ronnie Coleman rushed for 110 yards and rookie Don Hardeman added 107 to carry Houston over San Diego. Coleman had a 46-yard TD run and defensive tackle Curley Culp returned a fumble 38 yards for another score. Jessie Freitas had a 30-yard TD pass to Dwight McDonald for the Chargers.

Vikings 42, Browns 10

Fran Tarkenton threw for two scores, ran for one and set up a fourth as Minnesota buried Cleveland. Tarkenton threw 25 yards to John Gilliam and 13 to Chuck Foreman and ran in from the two. Willie Miller threw 26 yards to Reggie Rucker on an end-around for the Browns' only TD.

Lions 17, Falcons 14

Albie Taylor plunged across from a yard out with only 80 seconds left to lift Detroit past Atlanta. The Falcons led 14-7 on a 17-yard run by Haskell Stanback and a 26-yard TD pass from Steve Bartkowski to Gerald Tinker before Errol Mann's 29-yard field goal and Taylor's TD won it for the Lions.

Dolphins 22, Patriots 14

Norm Bulaich drove over from a yard out for the go-ahead score in the third period and Garo Yepremian added his second and third field goals as Miami downed New England. The Patriots took a 14-0 lead as Neal Graf threw 31 yards to Randy Vataha and five to Russ Francis before the Dolphins stormed back.

Rams 23, 49ers 14

Tom Dempsey kicked three field goals, including a 51-yarder, and Los Angeles beat San Francisco. James Harris also threw a 22-yard TD pass to Lawrence McCutcheon and Mike Williams ran six yards with a blocked punt for Ram scores. Norm Snead's 30-yard pass to Gene Washington and Delvin Williams' 38-yard run accounted for the 49ers' scores.

Bears 15, Eagles 13

Bob Thomas' 26-yard field goal with eight seconds left boosted Chicago over Philadelphia. Thomas earlier had kicks of 44 and 24 yards. Gary Huff had a seven-yard TD pass to Cid Edwards for the Bears and Roman Gabriel hit Harold Carmichael from 14 yards out for the Eagles.

THE INCOMPARABLE O.J.

Sweet Revenge For NY Castoffs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two New York castoffs, Larry Jones and Randy Johnson, contributed three touchdowns to Washington's 49-13 trouncing of their former teammates and Giant Coach Bill Arnsparger emphatically resents being reminded they're now with the undefeated Redskins.

Smith streaked 52 yards with a punt for a final Washington touchdown in a 28-point second period scoring spree and Johnson, mopping up at quarterback for Bill Kilmer, threw two TD passes in the final quarter as the Redskins registered the third highest point total in club history.

Arnsparger, noted for developing Miami's defense when he was an assistant with the Dolphins, ordered UPI reporter Ron Cohen out of the dressing room for pressing him on his feelings about Jones and Smith having been cut by the Giants. The New York coach later sent word of apology for the blowup and invited Cohen back into the locker room.

Of the one-sided defeat that evened the Giants' record at 1-1, Arnsparger said: "The Redskins had fantastic execution. I haven't given up faith in this football team. We broke down on defense because they played better."

The Giants broke in front on a first period score but the Redskins exploded for four touchdowns in slightly over seven minutes in the second quarter. Larry Brown scored a tying TD on the first play of the quarter and Kilmer fired the first of two scoring passes to Roy Jefferson after Ken Houston's recovery of a New York fumble.

One of Washington eight sacks produced a Craig Morton fumble in the Giant end zone and Ron McDole recovered for a third touchdown. Then Smith broke loose, bobbling the punt on his own 48 and retreating to the 36 before swinging across the field and down the left sideline behind awesome blocking.

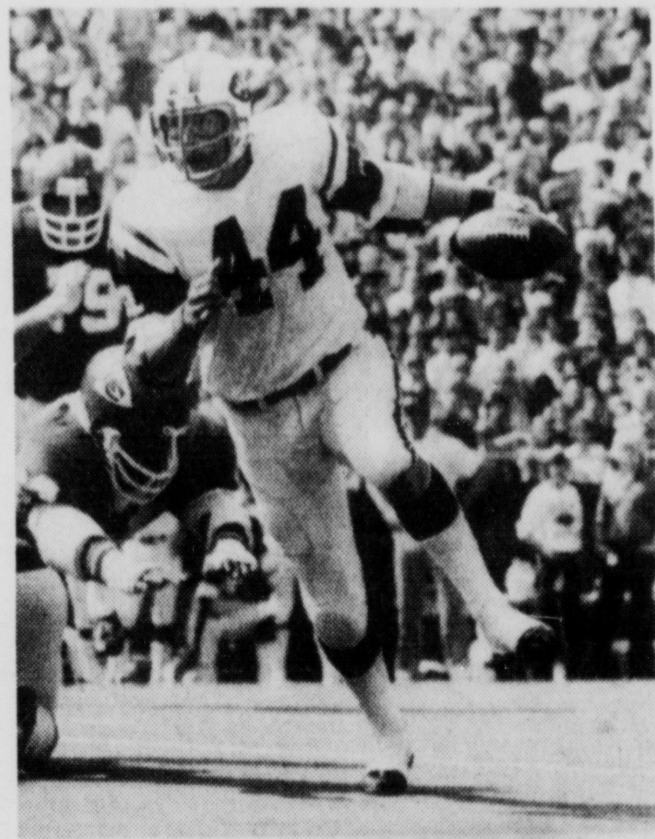

Jones, cut by Arnsparger in pre-season last year, savored the moment.

"It's particularly great to do it against the guy who gave up on you," he said. "I admire, respect and love the Giant players but when a man calls you into his office and tells you, in effect, you can't cut it, I was aiming to show that man I could cut it."

Johnson, who played with the World Football League last year, said of his 6-for-6 passing performance against his former team: "I don't think I got a fair evaluation when I was in New York. I think I was trying to say some of the criticism I got there was unjust."

MORTON (L) FUMBLES UNDER PRESSURE

BIG GAIN FOR RIGGINS

NFLPA: Owners Use Stalling Tactics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two leaders of the NFL Players Association told Congress today the pro football owners are using stalling legal tactics and economic power in an effort to "emasculate" the union in their long labor dispute.

Union executive director Ed Garvey and NFLPA President Kermit Alexander made the charges in testimony before a House Labor subcommittee hearing attended by team player representatives, including Randy Vataha who led New England out on strike earlier this month.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Frank Thompson, Jr., D-N.J., has scheduled spokesmen for the owners and Commissioner Pete Rozelle as witnesses Thursday.

Garvey and Alexander recounted the association's failure to negotiate a new contract with the owners for nearly 20 months and their long legal battles with them over the years.

"The power of the NFL owners is so great," Garvey said in his prepared statement, "that many of our players have given up on the institution of collective bargaining. While this is not an industry that affects millions of workers, it has high visibility."

Urging amendments in the National Labor Relations Act which would better safeguard union activities by professional athletes, he commented: "If the efforts of NFL owners to emasculate this union are successful, it will be a terrible example for the rest of this nation."

AL Ends With Multiple No-Hitter, 2 Firings, Palmer's 23rd

By UPI

As witnessed by one multiple no-hitter, two manager firings and Jim Palmer's 23rd win, baseball died hard in the American League Sunday.

For sure, on a day the American League East champion Boston Red Sox were losing their regular season finale unceremoniously 11-4 to the Cleveland Indians, the AL West titlist Oakland A's spelled finis to their regular season with a four-man no-hit 5-0 win over the California Angels. Vida Blue, Glenn Abbott, Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers couldn't have provided a more momentous way for the world champion A's to begin their defense of the AL pennant.

Blue, who pitched the first five innings of the historic multiple no-hitter, gained credit for his 22nd win of the season against 11 losses. But the Baltimore Orioles' Palmer, gunning for his second Cy Young Award in three years, may have (by himself) done the Oakland lefty one better.

Officially putting to rest his injury-laden 7-12 record of last year, Palmer handcuffed the New York Yankees 3-0 in the first game of a doubleheader split for his 10th shutout of the season. The crafty right-hander yielded eight hits, struck out five and walked none in lowering his league-leading earned run average to 2.09.

All, however, did not end on such a high note. For with the victors come the spoilsports in the person of the also-ran Minnesota Twins and Milwaukee Brewers who fired their managers after depressingly disappointing seasons. The Twins jettisoned the popular Frank Quilici after 3½ years of loyal service and the Brewers axed longtime Milwaukee favorite Del Crandall, who failed to bring about the kind of pennant winners he used to play for.

"I knew I was coming out," said Blue, who didn't seemed so awfully impressed about being one-fourth of an agate line in the baseball record book. "It didn't matter to me at all. All I care about is my earned run average. I'll take my record of 22-11 and run."

Abbott, who relieved Blue in the sixth, was a little more concerned. "I didn't want to give up a hit and be the goat," he said.

Lindblad, who entered the game in the seventh, didn't even know what was happening. "I didn't know we had a no-hitter going," he said. "All I knew is that we had three runs and if they scored four off me, I'd be the loser."

Added Fingers, the A's "ice-man" of a dozen or so pressure-packed World Series and playoff games: "I was a little nervous although the pressure was a lot less than in a playoff or World Series. The guys in the dugout were really razzing me, so I knew if I gave up a hit, I'd hear about it all winter long."

Reggie Jackson drove home

three of the A's runs with his 35th and 36th homers — tying him for the AL title in that department with Milwaukee's George Scott. The winning multiple no-hitter was baseball's first ever by more than two pitchers.

Back in 1917, Ernie Shore of the Boston Red Sox came on in relief after Babe Ruth walked the first batter and was subsequently thrown out of the game in a dispute with the umpire. Shore went on to gain credit for a perfect game by retiring 26 batters in a row. More recently, in 1967, Steve Barber and Stu Miller of the Orioles teamed up in a losing (2-1) no-hit effort against the Detroit Tigers.

Elsewhere on the final day of the American League season, the Yankees came back with a 3-2 win over the Orioles after being blanked by Palmer 3-0 in the opener. Chicago handed Quilici his final defeat at Twins' manager 6-4, Milwaukee blanked Detroit 7-0, Texas put away Kansas City 3-1, and, as mentioned, Cleveland drubbed Boston 11-4.

Orioles 3, 2, Yankees 0, 2

Rick Dempsey, caught in a run-down between third and home, scored the winning run in the nightcap when Orioles' reliever Dyer Miller dropped a throw to cap the winning three-run Yankees' rally in the ninth inning. In the opener, Palmer, reaching his career-high 23 victories, got all the run-support he needed when Don Baylor belted a solo homer in the second, his 24th.

"Right now," said Palmer commenting on the Cy Young Award, "if it ended in a tie, it would be fine with me. But I'll be a little disappointed if I lose it."

Indians 11, Red Sox 4

Alan Ashby belted a grand slam homer, his first as a major league, to highlight a six-run fifth inning that carried the Indians to victory over a team of Boston second-stringers.

Brewers 7, Tigers 0

Rookie right-hander Larry Anderson fired a five-hitter for his first major league victory as the Brewers, under the direction of Crandall aide Harvey Kuenn, went out winners in an otherwise dismal season. Darrell Porter had a two-run homer and a run-scoring triple for Milwaukee.

White Sox 6, Twins 4

Bucky Dent scored from third on reliever Tom Burgmeier's wild pitch and Pat Kelly singled home a second run, enabling the White Sox to break a 4-4 deadlock in the 10th inning and end Quilici's tenure as Twins' manager on an predictable sour note.

Rangers 3, Royals 1

Jim Spencer singled home Mike Hargrove to cap a two-run Texas rally in the first inning and rookie Stan Perzanowski went 8-2-3 in the win. The victory enabled Texas to beat out Minnesota for third place in the AL West.

Seaver Completes Big Comeback Year

By UPI

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets put the finishing touches Sunday on a 1975 performance which could win him honors as the National League's Cy Young Award winner and comeback of the year player.

Seaver wasn't around at the finish of the Mets' 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies but received credit for the win. He thus completed the season with a 22-9 won-lost record and with the third lowest earned run average in the league.

Randy Jones, Seaver's only serious rival for the Cy Young Award, lost his 12th game against 20 victories Sunday when the San Diego Padres were beaten by the San Francisco Giants, 5-3. Jones has a league-leading 2.24 ERA followed by the 2.29 by Andy Messersmith of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Seaver's 2.38.

Seaver's superb 1975 performance followed a 1974 campaign during which he had an 11-11 record and feared that his career as a star was over.

The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Atlanta Braves 7-6, the Houston Astros beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2, the Chicago Cubs topped the Montreal Expos 9-6, and the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 in other National League games.

Mets 5 Phillies 4

Rusty Staub drove in two runs with a pair of sacrifice flies and the Mets took advantage of three errors to beat the Phillies. Skip Lockwood relieved Seaver in the sixth and picked up his second save. Dave Cash batted four times for the Phillies giving him a major league mark of 699 official at-bats for the season.

Giants 5 Padres 3

Gary Matthews hit a two-run homer off Jones in the first inning and Gary Thomason hit a solo homer in the eighth as the Giants tagged the San Diego star with his 12th defeat. Only two of the runs off Jones were earned, however, enabling him to win the ERA crown.

Reds 7 Braves 6

The Reds won their 108th game, most in the NL since the 1906 Chicago Cubs won 116, when Cesar Geronimo's infield hit with two out in the ninth scored Bill Plummer from third base with the winning run. It was the 24th time this season that the Reds won a game in their last at-bat.

Astros 4 Dodgers 2

Cliff Johnson's three-run homer in the eighth inning lifted the Astros to their victory over the Dodgers. Reliever Jim York received credit for his fourth victory against three losses while Charlie Hough was the loser.

Hurricanes Blow Up a Storm

The Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes may have stirred up quite a storm in the college football ratings.

Miami gave No. 1 ranked Oklahoma its biggest scare in nearly three seasons Friday night when the Hurricanes came close to upsetting the Sooners at the Orange Bowl, and with No. 2 Ohio State winning big over North Carolina, 32-7, on Saturday, the Buckeyes could conceivably assume the top spot in the ratings this week.

That, of course, is up to the UPI Coaches Board to decide but, even if the Buckeyes don't become No. 1 this week, there's no doubt that they'll close the gap considerably on the Sooners.

Oklahoma, which hasn't lost since 1972, was outplayed at Miami but, as all good teams do, took advantage of two breaks in the second half to score a 20-17 triumph. The Sooners turned a blocked punt and a recovered fumble into second quarter touchdowns then withstood a 10-point fourth quarter Miami rally to win their 23rd consecutive game.

Miami, however, dominated the statistics, outgaining the Sooners in total yardage 289-176. The Hurricanes also held All-America running back Joe Washington to just 43 yards rushing in 14 carries.

"Miami was as good or even better than us," admitted Sooners' Coach Barry Switzer. "I can't say enough about the way they prepared for us. We played an extremely poor football game. We were lucky to win."

By contrast, Ohio State was its usual awesome self in downing North Carolina for its third straight triumph. The Buckeyes, employing a ground attack that completely overwhelmed the Tar Heels, got 148 yards rushing and five touchdowns from fullback Pete Johnson and 157 yards rushing from All-America Archie Griffin. It marked the 24th regular season game in a row that Griffin had surpassed the 100-yard rushing mark.

"They don't just have one threat in their backfield, they have three of them," lamented North Carolina Coach Bill Dooley, who also included Buckeyes' quarterback Cornelius Greene in that trio. "I don't think there is any doubt Ohio State is a strong, disciplined team. I was very impressed with their defense, their quickness. I thought our players gave a heckuva effort but we couldn't match them at all. They have a very physical football team."

In other games involving the top 10 ranked teams, No. 3 Southern California topped Purdue 19-6, No. 4 Nebraska whipped Texas Christian 56-14, No. 5 Missouri downed Wisconsin 27-21, No. 6 Texas walloped Texas Tech 41-18, No. 7 Texas A&M crushed Illinois 43-13, No. 8 Notre Dame routed Northwestern 31-7, No. 9 UCLA tied Air Force 20-20 and No. 10 Michigan played Baylor to a 10-10 deadlock.

Quarterback Vince Evans scored two touchdowns to spark Southern California's victory over Purdue, quarterback Terry Luck tossed for three touchdowns in pacing Nebraska over Texas Christian, Henry Marshall caught a pair of TD passes in leading Missouri past Wisconsin and fullback Earl Campbell rushed for 150 yards and two touchdowns in leading Texas over Texas Tech.

Bubba Bean rushed for 158 yards and scored two touchdowns in helping Texas A&M defeat Illinois, quarterback Joe Montana came off the bench to score one TD and run for another in Notre Dame's triumph over Northwestern, Rob Shaw's six-yard TD pass to Frank Cox with 55 seconds left enabled Air Force to tie UCLA and Gordon Bell scored with 8:10 remaining to give Michigan a tie with Baylor.

Elsewhere, No. 11 Alabama crushed Vanderbilt 40-7; No. 12 Penn State downed Iowa 30-10; No. 13 Oklahoma State routed North Texas State 61-7; No. 14 Arizona State blanked Brigham Young 20-0 and West Virginia, also ranked 14th, defeated Boston College 35-18.

Also, No. 16 San Diego State topped Utah State 19-10; No. 17 Colorado clobbered Wichita State 52-0; Arizona, also No. 17, defeated Wyoming 14-0; No. 19 Auburn lost to Tennessee 21-17; No. 20 Navy was beaten by Washington 14-13 and South Carolina, tied for 20th, was upset by Georgia, 28-20.

State U. Hawks Top Siena 1-0, 5-2

NEW PALTZ
Their scheduled date at the Capital District Baseball Tournament rained out over the weekend, New Paltz State's baseball team entertained Siena College for a doubleheader Sunday but it was the Hawks who enjoyed the upstarters visit as they scored a 1-0, 5-2 sweep.

In the opener, Bob Vasquez, with final out relief help from Tom Whitaker, checked Siena on two hits and made a first inning RBI by Whitaker stand up.

A leadoff walk to Dennis

Ponte, who stole second, set the stage for what proved to be the game-winning single by Whitaker. Then the Saugerties native protected the win in the top of the seventh when he came on with runners on second and third and two out and promptly retired the side.

In the nightcap, Steve Soper walked with the bases loaded for one run and Larry Panella singled in two more as New Paltz took a 3-0 lead. The Hawks added two more in the fifth on a bases loaded single by Ken McCloot. That was enough for Ponte, who hurled the victory giving up two unearned runs.

NP, 6-4 on the season, is at Scranton, Pa., Tuesday.

Mazzucca and DeLisio Pace Apollos' Victory

KINGSTON
John Mazzucca and Jeff DeLisio scored two touchdowns each to lead the Apollos to a 33-14 romp in the Junior Football League at Dietz Stadium.

Mazzucca exploded for runs of 30 and 40 yards, while DeLisio was hitting pay dirt on scampers of 8 and 6 yards. Pete Bradford galloped 40 yards for the Apollos' fifth touchdown.

DeLisio added two extra points for the winners and Bradford added the other.

Paul Laughlin had a pair of six-yard runs for the two Saturns touchdowns.

Knicks Drop Two Players

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks reduced their squad to 18 players Saturday by dropping recently-acquired Bob Christian and rookie Pete Davis from their roster.

Christian, who played five seasons in the NBA with Atlanta and Phoenix, recently signed with the Knicks. Davis is a rookie from Michigan State.

The Knicks open their exhibition Friday night against the Detroit Pistons in New Haven.

Toyota Pickup

Just good gas mileage and a low price aren't enough anymore.

You want a truck that lasts, too.

Sure Toyota Pickups are low priced and get good gas mileage. They average 27 mpg on the highway and 18 in the city in EPA simulated tests.*

But what good is all that if the rest of the vehicle quickly goes to pot?

That's why every single Toyota goes through water tests, brake tests, even glove box tests. That's why every single engine is tested for 30 minutes before it ever spends a minute in your Toyota.

You want extras at no extra cost.

Even our lowest priced Pickup comes with a big 2.2 liter engine and power front disc brakes. Our Long Bed 2000 comes with a long wheelbase and a long cargo bed.

Our racy SR-5 includes AM radio for sweet music. Wide radial tires for sweet handling. And a 5-speed overdrive transmission for sweet savings on gas and engine wear.

All at no extra cost.

You want the right car at the right price.

Which is why we make so many different Toyotas for you to choose from. The tough Pickups, plus sporty Celicas, solid Coronas, roomy Mark II's, Land Cruisers and low, low priced Corollas.

In all, 22 different well built Toyotas with lots built in for the money.

Good gas mileage and a low price? Sure. But in a Toyota, we want you to enjoy those savings for a long time to come. Get your hands on a Toyota.

UCAL: Only Three Unbeatens

KINGSTON
Mud on a football field is a great equalizer, and Saturday the UCAL's gridirons did not lack for the sloppy stuff. Two upsets and two near-upsets emerged from the muck, and as the season passed its one-third point, only three teams remain unbeaten.

The stunner of the day, of course, happened in Boiceville where Onteora pinned a 6-0 reversal on New Paltz. OCS' first two efforts had most people thinking that eventually the Indians would win a game, but not this soon — not against New Paltz.

The Hugies, though, weren't up to the Indians' standards this day. The New Paltz passing attack proved ineffective, understandably enough considering the conditions. What was more important was that the Hugies' line lost the battle in the trenches.

Vindicated now somewhat and no doubt hungrier than ever, the Indians are going to be more of a factor in the rest of the schedule. New Paltz will have to overcome the shock of that most unexpected setback before it can get back to the business of improving its 2-1 record.

For some reason Highland went to Liberty as an underdog. Maybe it was because the Big Blue's first two victims were of suspect quality. Or maybe it was because the Redskins had the home field. Whatever they were, the reasons weren't good enough.

Highland won the game and did it in a style that will severely damage that underdog image. The Blue held the Liberty wishbone to one touchdown, that's good defense, and scored the winning TD in a clutch fourth quarter situation. That's poise.

So now the Big Blue is right at the top of the pack with a 3-0 record. So what's new?

Wallkill and Rondout are the other unbeaten, but just barely. The Panthers made one play work and beat Red Hook by seven; the Ganders were a conversion and a safety better than Ellenville.

Neither coach Jerry Trezza of Wallkill nor coach Mickey Million of Rondout was satisfied with his team's performance. Wins are wins, and the coaches are glad to have them, but the road ahead of Wallkill and Rondout looks a little rougher now.

Pine Bush knocked Marlboro off in what could be the start of a hot streak for the Bushmen. Pine Bush outscored everybody this week, and the Bushmen just might have the muscle to overcome their 0-2 start.

Good news on the Marlboro side too, even though the Dukes stand 0-3. Dennis Burkett's young troops actually survived another game without injuries. Terry Monroe, sidelined earlier in the year, even returned to play against Pine Bush. Another country will be heard from.

Tully Named Horseman of Year

MONTICELLO
An audience of 600 prominent figures in the standardbred world—comprising a "who's who" of harness racing drivers, breeders, trainers and track executives—gave a standing ovation to Philip W. Tully, proprietor of the Woodstock Stud of Bethel, and former Monticello racing secretary, who was named as "Horseman of the Year" at the 17th annual awards banquet of the Monticello-Goshen chapter of the United States Harness Writers Association (USHWA), held Sunday at Kutsher's Country Club.

Tully, as guest of honor and principal speaker of the evening, was introduced by master of ceremonies Philip A. Pines, Director of the Hall of Fame of the Trotter in Goshen and was presented with a plaque by Jim Calpin, president of the Monticello-Goshen Chapter and Scranton Tribune Sports Columnist.

The lavish dinner had as its central theme a reminiscent overlook of the Monticello-NYC OTB Classic whose inaugural this summer was won in world record time by Silk Stockings. Her owners, Kenneth and Claire Mazik of Bear, Delaware were selected as the third annual recipients of the Chic Feldman Humanitarian Award.

The honor was presented by last year's winner, Leon Greenberg, who hailed the Maziks for their revolutionary employment of Silk Stockings and other harness horses as a means of therapy for the autistic children at their Au Clair School.

Singled out for recognition was driver-trainer James R. Curran of Fern Park, Florida, who received the Monticello Raceway Special Achievement Award from chairman Sidney Sussman and Milton Kutsher of the Mighty M's Board of Directors. Curran leaped into national racing prominence this summer when driving the pacing stallion Sly Attorney with whom he established a Monticello track record of 1:59.4 for 4-year old stallions and matched the world's record of 1:54.4 for mile tracks at Syracuse.

The Blue Chip Farms of Wallkill, N.Y. was honored by the Harness Writers for its significant advances to the New York State Breeding program and whose outstanding stallion, Most Happy Fella, is the sire of Silk Stockings.

Blue Chip Farms general manager Bill Brown presented the coveted annual Horse Awards made to regular seasonal competitors at Monticello Raceway. This year they were expanded to include both sexes in the categories of top 2-year old, top 3-year old and top aged pacers and trotters.

Another awards innovation this year included honors for "The Most Promising Provisional Driver," won by Richard Manzi, Jr. and the "Most Improved Driver," accorded to Marvin Maker.

Another new award, "Top Ranking Trainer," will be bestowed at the conclusion of Monticello's summer meet on Sunday, Oct. 12, in a winners' circle ceremony along with those for top percentage driver and leading dash winner.

Now, Marine Midland's Direct Deposit program allows you to have your Social Security check deposited by the government in your checking account automatically and on time! And, of course, if you're 62 or older that checking account is free.

You'll save a special trip to the bank just to cash your Social Security check, and there's no worry about your check getting lost or stolen. Even if you're away, the deposit is made automatically, and verified by your monthly statement.

If you wish, a certain amount can be automatically transferred each month to your savings account.

YOUR DEPOSIT GUARANTEED

Best of all, there's no such thing as a late check, because Marine Midland will guarantee the amount of your monthly deposit. That means you can start using your money on the date your payment is due, whether it arrives at the bank on time or not.

Stop at the nearest Marine Midland office and fill out the form authorizing the Direct Deposit. Your Social Security check will be at Marine Midland when you need it.

Faye Is Losing Hurricane Punch

MIAMI (UPI) — Forecasters wrote off hurricane Faye today, sent a reconnaissance plane to check a tropical depression in the northwest Caribbean Sea, and kept a casual eye on the westward trek of hurricane Gladys.

The National Hurricane Center issued its last advisory on Faye at 6 a.m. EDT, saying the storm was losing its tropical features as it raced eastward across the north Atlantic at 45 miles an hour. Faye dumped heavy rains on Bermuda last week, but caused no serious damage to the resort island.

"Faye is losing the features of a hurricane and will pass well north of the Azores this morning," the NHC said. "Faye's winds will diminish slowly during the next 24 hours."

A hurricane hunter aircraft was dispatched early today to investigate a weak tropical depression spotted Saturday in the Caribbean Sea off the Yucatan Peninsula.

Forecasters said the depression, which was kicking up 30 m.p.h. winds in a few squalls, changed very little during the night and had remained nearly stationary off Cozumel Island.

But conditions were favorable for a slow strengthening of the depression and forecasters said the system could become better organized in the next 24 hours.

Hurricane Gladys, meanwhile, continued its 12 m.p.h. march across the Atlantic carrying top winds of 75 m.p.h.

At 6 a.m., Gladys was centered about 350 miles north-east of San Juan, P.R., near latitude 22.0 north and longitude 62.2 west. Forecasters said Gladys was moving toward the west-northwest and was not expected to strengthen today.

'Drowning in Information on Intelligence'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's intelligence community is not giving the taxpayer his money's worth and its red tape might prevent advance warning of an enemy attack, according to the chairman of the House intelligence committee.

"We are drowning in information in intelligence which we are not absorbing," said Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y. He also accused Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger of engineering the administration's refusal to provide information the committee considers essential to its investigation of intelligence operations.

Pike made the comments Sunday in advance of a meeting today with his Select Committee on Intelligence to decide whether assistance of the full House will be requested to obtain testimony and classified documents being withheld by the White House and the CIA.

The panel's counterpart in the Senate, meanwhile, called a closed meeting later today to map out further open hearings this week on the CIA's interception of mail involving some of the nation's top officials.

Pike, interviewed Sunday (CBS-TV: Face the Nation), said he believes Kissinger "has been the one who's been trying the hardest to block the investigation in the first place."

If the House is asked to back up the committee's demands, Pike said, it would be the first step toward a contempt of Congress resolution if no solution to the impasse can be reached.

Asked for an overall assessment of the nation's many and varied intelligence operations, Pike said:

"I think that there are thousands of dedicated men risking their lives to get intelligence. I think that there are other thousands of brilliant men creating magnificent scientific techniques for getting intelligence."

"Above the gathering level, however, it just bogs down every single time. It is not absorbed, it is not delivered. As far as our getting our money's worth out of it — no way are we getting our money's worth out of it."

"If an attack were to be launched on America in the very near future, it is my belief that America would not know that the attack were about to be launched."

A spokesman for the CIA said Director William E. Colby "obviously disagrees with Chairman Fike's assertion that our country is open to surprise attack" and has "said before and repeats today that American intelligence is the best in the world."

But Pike said, "We must have a tighter oversight, a smaller, more effective intelligence operation. One of our problems is that it is too big. We are drowning in information, in intelligence, which we are not absorbing."

He Lives to Be 100, and Says It's Too Long

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI) — Henry Denninger, on the brink of his 100th birthday, finds little joy in growing old. He said his age is a burden and he sometimes wishes for the rest only death might bring.

He knows his body has lost the battle against aging and now — in what he considers the final indignity — his creative mind is retreating from his once firm grasp.

"I just wish I was finally six feet under the ground," Denninger said, looking over the top of his gold rimless glasses. He interrupted himself as he talked of a gathering with his two sons planned for his 100th birthday on today.

Denninger, who was born in Germany in 1875, once lifted sides of beef as a butcher's apprentice, but his withered body has left such strenuous work behind. It's not his frail body that bothers him, though. It's his mind.

"The mind weakens so

Latest Weapon's Electric

MIAMI (UPI) — A blonde girl walked into a service station, explained her car had broken down and could she use the phone. Zap! The next thing attendant William Lawson knew was excruciating pain while he lay on the floor "flopping like a mackerel."

Lawson, 27, had become the first victim of a crime perpetrated by an electric gun, police said. The gun, called the "Taser Public Defender," shoots two, 18-foot long wires with dart points at a victim and jolts him into painful immobility with a 50,000-volt charge of electricity.

"I fell on the floor and couldn't move. It was the worst pain I ever felt. My whole right side was jumping. I couldn't control my muscles," Lawson said.

"That thing like to give me a fit."

The service station robbery occurred more than a week ago but Lawson is still aching and sore with a bandage over his right hip where doctors cut out one of the darts.

It took police, who were disbelieving at first, 24 hours to connect the weapon to the burglary of a Miami Shores gun shop two weeks ago in which nine of the electric guns were stolen.

"It's had to know these things are on the street in the wrong hands," said Miami Shores Police Lt. W. J. Brenton. "It could be instant death for an elderly person or someone wearing a (cardiac) pacemaker."

During its early development, the gun was known as "Tom Swift's Electric Rifle." It was developed originally to immobilize airplane sky-jackers and was reduced to the size of a nine-inch long, 1.39-pound instrument resembling a squarish-looking flashlight.

Lawson may have received only half the 50,000-volt charge because one of the darts, capable of penetrating an inch and a half of clothing, slammed into his belt.

He said he was barely conscious enough to detect the girl robber had a male accomplice who bent over and pulled off the wires. One dart, about an inch long, with a plastic top and brass between the point and the top, was left buried in Lawson's right side.

With such a gun in the hands of criminals, police said they have a legal problem. Right now such a weapon is not classified officially as lethal. Therefore, a policeman confronted by one legally shoot his conventional gun at the person threatening him.

"We need a court decision on it," a police supervisor said.

Denninger migrated to New Jersey when he was 16 years old to work as a butcher's apprentice. Later, he worked as a hatter in Danbury and Norwalk, where he directed a choir for three years.

He asked his interviewer to visit him again, "but not the 29th, that's when my sons will be here."

It was clear he wanted to space the visits so he would have fewer lonely days.

The recreation director at the nursing home said he gets most of his weekly visits from his son Carl, who lives in Danbury. His other son, August, lives in New Mexico. Both are pharmacists.

Handed a picture of himself, Denninger wrinkled his eyes and adjusted his glasses.

"The age is showing," he said with a thin smile, "but I am surprised I look so well."

"Maybe it will remain everyone of all the old people," he said.

Denninger, who was born in Germany in 1875, once lifted sides of beef as a butcher's apprentice, but his withered body has left such strenuous work behind. It's not his frail body that bothers him, though. It's his mind.

POUGHKEEPSIE
A wide range of services is available through the Dutchess County Office For the Aging and its Senior Citizen Discount Cards.

Dutchess Seniors Discount

With the card, senior citizens may buy different types of services in about 530 stores in the county. A directory is attached, and a quarterly list change is sent out.

The Senior Citizen Care-A-Van Transportation System uses the discount card or the County Park Pass for identification. Care-A-Van provides door to door transportation for residents aged 60 and over at East Fishkill Mondays, Fishkill Tuesdays, Hyde Park Wednesdays, LaGrange Thursdays, and Wappinger Fridays. The service includes rides to Poughkeepsie and Beacon and other major community facilities.

The cards will be issued in seven locations this month according to the Office for the Aging. The program began in January.

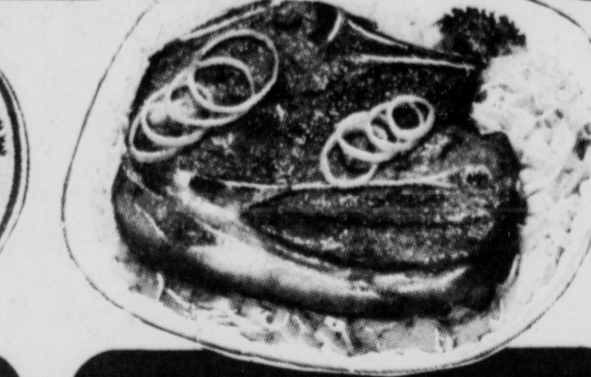

The homebound elderly who cannot do their own shopping can call the Office for the Aging and will be visited by a volunteer and issued a card in their home.

Operator Provides Area Code

ALBANY
The Public Service Commission (PSC) has ordered New York Telephone Co. to return to its old practice of providing area code data through the regular telephone operators.

The commission acted after reviewing a complaint from the New York Public Interest Research Group that New York Telephone was applying directory assistance charges to requests for area codes, although the commission opinion authorizing directory assistance charges did not mention area code requests.

"We believe the petition has merit," said the PSC in a prepared announcement. "The directory does not contain a complete list of area codes. The only available complete source of area codes is the company."

The PSC, as a result, has directed the telephone company to allow regular operators to provide area code information without charge to the customer. Directory assistance requests will continue to be charged according to schedules determined by the company and approved by the PSC.

Cleanup Permit Changed

NEW YORK CITY
The Environmental Protection Agency has announced plans to modify the conditions of a water pollution cleanup permit issued to the city.

Once a final permit is issued, the permit holder can apply for modification in the permit terms.

Hudson Valley Apple Products Company, Inc. of Milton has asked for modifications of the permit limitations, an extension of its present schedule of compliance to allow completion of treatment facilities; and an addition to the permit to include limits and monitoring of the previously unreported apple juice filter cooling water discharge.

Industrial Chairman Appointed

KINGSTON
Mrs. Hubert Richter, wife of the Kingston city judge, has been named chairman of the Kingston Industrial Division of the Ulster County United Way for this fall's campaign.

The appointment was announced by David Dittman, campaign chairman for the 1975 drive which will benefit 17 county agencies.

Mrs. Richter, an Ulster County resident for 25 years, lives at 100 Harding Avenue, Kingston. She is the mother of four children, a member of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts and the Immanuel Lutheran Church. Her hobbies are needlework, gardening and sports.

Contract Amended

ASHOKAN
Supervisor Oliver Crawford and members of the Olive Town Board met recently in closed session with Warren Nissen, president of Olive Cablevision, which holds a non-exclusive cable antenna television contract with the town.

"The result of the meeting," Crawford said, "was to have the contract amended in such a manner that residents of the town are more apt to have cablevision available to them in the five districts of the town in the very near future."

Returns To Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Justice William O. Douglas returned to the Supreme Court today for the first time since last March to participate in the first formal business of the new term.

A spokesman said a full nine-man court was present for the first day of a week-long private conference in which the justices cull through more than 800 cases piled up over the summer recess to decide which ones they will decide to review.

The court's first public session is next Monday.

Douglas arrived at the court at 9:30 a.m. in a court-owned station wagon driven by a court employee.

Douglas, who will be 77 Oct. 16, suffered a serious stroke Dec. 31 which paralyzed part of his left side. He was hospitalized in Washington and New York until last August, when he was able to spend the rest of the summer at his cabin in Washington State.

Douglas, who has served on the high court longer than any other man, returned to Washington over the weekend to fulfill promises that he would shoulder his full court burden in the new term.

He managed to leave the hospital for a few days in March and was present for oral arguments in a North Carolina case challenging the constitutionality of capital punishment.

But Douglas apparently underestimated the severity of his illness and returned to a New York hospital for nearly four months of physical rehabilitation.

Details of Douglas' recovery are a closely guarded secret, but he reportedly can walk short distances with the aid of a cane. Last March, he was brought to the bench in a wheelchair.

Pirates Release Hostages Unharm

ZAMBOANGA CITY, Philippines (UPI) — Some 40 Moslem rebel pirates released a hijacked Japanese freighter and 29 hostages unharm today, then surrendered to a navy admiral.

Both rebels and hostages—26 Japanese crewmembers and three Filipinos—were transferred from the hijacked ship Suehiro Maru to a Philippine navy boat headed into this southern Philippine seaport 500 miles south of Manila.

"Not one cent was involved," said Rear Adm. Romulo Espaldon, commander of military forces in the Southern Philippines. "The rebels were trapped. Had they resisted, they would have been killed."

Espaldon told newsmen approximately 40 rebels surrendered assorted firearms, including two light machineguns, one Communist-made B41 rocket launcher, two U.S.-made M79 grenade launchers and several rifles.

The rebels seized the 3,953-ton lumber freighter in Zamboanga early Friday morning, ordered it to sail 40 miles out into Tungawan Bay and demanded a ransom of $133,000 for the release of hostages and ship.

A navy flotilla consisting of 14 vessels immediately surrounded the ship while negotiations took place.

The rebels released two Filipinos as emissaries Sunday, then progressively softened their demands, finally agreeing to release the rest of the hostages, leave the ship and abandon the ransom, provided they were granted safe passage out of the area.

Apparently, Espaldon refused to accept the rebels' terms and demanded their unconditional surrender.

The admiral boarded the Suehiro Maru at noon Monday, met with the rebels over lunch and by 4 p.m. accepted their surrender.

He then flew to Zamboanga by helicopter and reported the release of the ship and its passengers to Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos by phone.

The rebels, members of the Moro National Liberation Front, kidnapped a Japanese woman in a beach resort near Zamboanga last month.

The victim, Mrs. Yoko Seki, an airlines stewardess from Tokyo vacationing in the Philippines with her husband, was released two days later for a ransom of $23,500, part of which was later recovered.

Reduced Fishing In North Atlantic

MONTREAL (UPI) — The United States and Canada have scored a conservation breakthrough, winning approval of 15 other nations for a sharp reduction of fishing in north Atlantic waters.

The International Commission for the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries unanimously accepted Canada's three-part conservation plan and two American proposals.

David H. Wallace, chairman of the U.S. delegation, said the meetings by representatives of 17 nations were "some of the most successful in the commission's 25-year history."

At the conclusion of its weeklong meetings Sunday, the commission agreed to a plan to cut the 1976 overall catch quota off the U.S. coast by more than 10 percent—from 724,000 metric tons to 650,000 metric tons—and establish a system of national vessel registration, to aid the monitoring of North Atlantic fishing activity.

Canada's proposal calls for more stringent catch limits on endangered fish stocks, a higher percentage shares of the overall catch for Canada and a 40 percent reduction in member nations' attempts to catch bottom fish, including haddock, cod and halibut.

"The decisions made in Montreal today will halt the tragic decline of the stocks off Canada's Atlantic coast," said federal fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc. "The fish stocks off our Atlantic coast will soon be on the way to good health."

"This is the single most direct and reliable method of conservation."

LeBlanc said cutting back on the number of vessels and fishing days by 40 percent would increase the effectiveness of the other two measures.

LeBlanc welcomed as a "positive development" Canada's agreement Friday with the Soviet Union, readmitting Russian vessels to Canadian ports in return for their observance of fishing quotas.

Canada banned the 500-vessel Soviet fishing fleet from its eastern ports in July for allegedly exceeding quotas by as much as 100 percent and for damaging Canadian fishing equipment.

Hunt Says Considered Drugging

NEW YORK (UPI) — Convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt says he once explored the possibility of drugging columnist Jack Anderson, but never contemplated murder, as was reported last week.

In an interview in the current issue of Time magazine, Hunt said former White House aide Charles Colson once suggested that Anderson might be drugged if he appeared on his live radio program under the influence of a drug.

Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy, another convicted Watergate burglar, discussed the means for doing this with a former CIA physician, Time reported.

Among the possibilities that the three considered were placing a drug that enters the body through the skin on the steering wheel of Anderson's car, slipping a hallucinogen into a medicine bottle that Anderson used and dropping a drug into Anderson's drink at a party, Hunt told the magazine.

Hunt said each of the schemes was discarded as impractical.

"It was just another wild idea that never got beyond the proposal stage," Hunt told a Time reporter at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida, where he is serving a prison term for his role in the Watergate break-in.

The Washington Post reported last week that Hunt told some of his former CIA associates that he was ordered to assassinate Anderson, who was disclosing information on Nixon administration policies obtained from national security leaks. In the interview with Time, Hunt denied that action as serious as murder was ever contemplated, but revealed the drugging plot.

TEEN FORUM

By Jean Adams, Ph.D.

By Jean Adams, Ph.D.

PARENTS: (COMMENT) Many teens write you to say how much they hate their parents. This makes me just want to cry to think that some teens feel this way.

I remember the time when I felt this way. My parents would try to talk to me. I would refuse them in every way I could, but they never gave up. They would tell me they loved me. Now they and I are so close. They've stood behind me during hardships and I know they will always be there to talk to, to lean on, and to get love and advice from. Because of this I've come to love them and love to be around them. — Grateful in Georgia.

(A.) Your letter has a few lessons for both parents and teens:

(1) Parents should not give up when their teen-age daughters or sons resist their love and help.

(2) Teens should remember that parents are not just there to get love and other good things from but are there to GIVE love in return. Only in this sharing of love can a teen-ager grow into a complete and happy human being.

TWO GIRLS: (Q.) I have been going steady with Tammy but I am in love with Sandi. Tammy likes to go places and spend my money. Sandi seems to be content at home. I can't find a good job and so I don't have the money I need to please Tammy. I really like being with Sandi but she doesn't seem to pay any attention to me. What should I do? — Between in Texas.

(A.) You do not care for Tammy or her tastes or her demands. So break up with her. You like Sandi and her nature. Pursue her. Maybe if you concentrate on her she will like you more.

Whether she does or not you will gain, because your going steady with Tammy when you don't care for her is pointless and foolish.

(For printed answers to your questions about shyness and dating, write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

THE TIME HAS COME TO PUT PRICE & PRIDE TOGETHER AGAIN.

Price & Pride.
Side by side.
Shoulder to shoulder, we worked together at A&P for over 100 years.
That's what made the Great A&P great.
Then Blooey!
The grocery business changed.
And Pride was forced to take a back seat.
He suffered quietly.
And A&P suffered, too.
Things weren't always so great at the Great A&P.
We know it.
You know it.
Price without Pride is no bargain.
The time has come to put Price & Pride together again.

If we can't do it, nobody can.
